GERMANY ACCEPTS THE FOUR-POWER PACT

EUROPE'S SORE SPOTS NOT YET HEALED

ENTHUSIASM DAMPENED

FRENCH VIEWS

Rome, June 8.
The initialling of the Four-Power Pact is apparently not to be taken as settling Europe's difficulties.

Information from Berlin and Paris shows that a good deal of anxious negotiation is still necessary and that upon their success will depend the ratifications.

It is learned, for instance, that the German adhesion to the Pact was still very doubtful yesterday morning and that it was only made possible by Signor Mussolini's action in personally telephoning to Herr Hitler in the afternoon.

GERMAN VIEWS

That the Pact does not in any way fulfil Germany's hopes in its present diluted form is the standpoint of German official quarters, but the essential thing is that it has been possible to conclude the Pact at all.

It is felt that the agreement envisages a new starting-point for the treatment of European political problems. The fact that it contains an Article dealing with the revision of the Treaty of Versailles is regarded as important, but it is regretted that it has been found impossible to reconcile the Franco-German viewpoints in regard to equality of armaments.

FRENCH INSISTENCE

It is emphasised that French insistence on the right to veto German armaments plans is inadmissible and that the German declaration of December 5 in regard to armaments equality, and everything that Herr Hitler said in his Reichstag speech, are still valid, without reservations and in no way limited by the Four-Power Pact.

PARIS CONDITIONS

In French Governmental circles, the initialling of the Pact is similarly regarded as only the first step towards the stabilisation of European peace. Officials say that before signature of the Pact, negotiations must be resumed to fix the practical application of the Pact, to improve Franco-Italian relations and then the relations between Italy and the Little Entente.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

Mukden, June 8.

The prospects of the release of the Nanchang British officers are gloomier than ever.

Despite the fact that a dozen relatives of the bandits are now being held as counter-hostages, the pirates, whose ranks have been swelled to 200 are still insisting on fabulous demands.

They have scornfully disclaimed offers of immunity and enrolment in the Manchukuo Army, and the Japanese authorities have come to the conclusion that negotiations are of no avail and that more drastic measures are required.—Reuter.

SPECIAL CABINET MEETING

WAR DEBT ISSUE DECISION

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1911. Received June 8, 9.25 a.m.)

London, June 8.

It is authoritatively understood that the British Government is not waiting for any Message from President Roosevelt in regard to the instalment of the war debt due on June 16.

The Cabinet will meet to-morrow at a special meeting. Whether or not any Message is received, it will decide whether or not to default on the payment.—Reuter.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

AFTER 50 YEARS IN HONGKONG

MRS. MARY BEVAN

Mrs. Mary Antoinette Staton Bevan, who passed away at the Victoria Hospital last night after a long and painful illness, was one of the oldest residents of the Colony.

She came here with her husband and family in 1881. With the exception of the youngest son who was born here, the family returned to England the following year on sick leave, but returned in 1883. For the last fifty years Mrs. Bevan remained in Hongkong, never leaving the Far East.

Her husband, who was Chief Clerk of Works at the P.W.D., died some forty years ago.

Mrs. Bevan leaves one daughter, the wife of Mr. Wm. Anderson of the Anderson Music Co., and three sons, the eldest of whom William Staton Bevan was, until recently, superintendent of the Eastern Exchange Telegraph Co. at Poochow and has now retired on pension.

The second son, Herbert, was one of the first volunteers to leave Hongkong when war was declared and he went through the entire East Africa campaign with the Welsh Fusiliers. He received a Commission and was mentioned in despatches. Later he joined the Chinese Labour Corps and served in France, where he was gassed. He now lives in Coronado, California.

The youngest son, Roland, also served in France, but returned to Hongkong after the war and is now on the staff of the Kowloon and Canton Railway.

WAR WORKER

Mrs. Bevan was well known for her services for Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, being a most faithful worker. She made hundreds of garments during the war. She was also a devoted attendant at St. John's Cathedral for nearly fifty years.

When she later lived in Kowloon she attended St. Andrew's Church until prevented by increasing years and infirmity. She was loved by her many friends and her death will be greatly felt.

As one of Hongkong's pioneer women, she was most interesting to converse with being full of reminiscences of the old days.

Historic Document Initialled in Rome

IL DUCE'S SPEECH IN SENATE

FAITHFUL TO SPIRIT OF ORIGINAL DRAFT

ROME, JUNE 7.

GERMANY TO-NIGHT NOTIFIED HER ACCEPTANCE OF THE FINAL DRAFT OF THE FOUR-POWER PACT, ENABLING THE INITIALLING OF THE HISTORIC DOCUMENT BY THE REPRESENTATIVES OF BRITAIN, FRANCE, GERMANY AND ITALY AT 7.30 P.M.

Although changes have been made in the text of the Pact, it remains faithful to the spirit of the original draft, declared Signor Mussolini, speaking to the Senate.

The galleries of the Senate were crowded with members of the Diplomatic Corps, who came to hear Signor Mussolini pronounce his blessing on the Pact.

OFFICIAL VERSION OF PACT

The Italian Premier laid emphasis on the fact that the Pact is not directed against any Power or against any group of Powers.

It does not, he said, constitute a united front, but it recognises the need in Europe for a strong authority. If nothing of this kind had been attempted, Europe would be exposed to grave dangers.

The Pact was not an end in itself, but if Europe's four leading Powers collaborated, all points of controversy between the governments of Europe would be greatly simplified.

DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME

The final draft embraces, largely, the French counter-plan, which itself embodies the main features of Signor Mussolini's proposals. The Italian Premier admitted during his speech before the Senate to-night that the difficulties experienced in reaching a satisfactory basis, difficulties which had now been overcome, main centred upon Article Three of the Pact, dealing with disarmament.

OFFICIAL TEXT

The official text of the Pact, issued after the document had been initialled, shows that it adheres closely to the semi-official version published yesterday.

The preamble expresses the conviction of the signatories that the disquiet throughout the world can only be dispelled by reinforcing their solidarity, so as to strengthen confidence in the peace of Europe.

CO-OPERATION

Under Article One, the signatories undertake to make every effort to pursue, within the framework of the League of Nations, effective co-operation between all the Powers with a view to the maintenance of peace.

Substantially, Articles Two, Three and Four are unpublished yesterday, providing for changes of views with the object of applying the provisions of the League Covenant, especially Articles Ten, Sixteen and Nineteen, for consultations in the event of a breakdown of the Disarmament Conference, and for discussions on economic problems of common interest.

TEN YEARS

Article Five provides that the Pact shall last for ten years, but if no Power has given notice of termination before the end of the eighth year, the Pact will remain in force indefinitely, each Party then having the right to terminate it by giving two years' notice.

The Pact will come into force as soon as the ratifications have been deposited in Rome.—Reuter.

BONHAM STRAND PROPERTY

ISSUE ON FACTS DECIDED

Judgment for the defendant on the issue of fact was given in the Bonham Strand West property case by the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, at the Supreme Court this morning.

The case was one in which Li Tse-shi, administratrix of the estate of her late husband, Li Woon-nam, of Tsai Shan, sought to recover No. 73, Bonham Strand, from Pong Tsai-ching, of Shatin, it being alleged that the property assignment was a forgery perpetrated by plaintiff's adopted son, Li Kai-loy.

The judgment will appear in our Final Edition.

THE COURT MOVES TO WINDSOR

PRINCESS ELIZABETH ATTENDS TATTOO

London, June 7.

The King and Queen left Buckingham Palace this afternoon by road for Windsor Castle, where the Court will remain for about a fortnight, the King returning to London on Monday to open the World Economic Conference. Princess Elizabeth, with her parents, the Duke and Duchess of York, to-day attended the full dress rehearsal of the Aldershot Military Tattoo at which 80,000 children in school parties were present.—British Wireless.

Sir Thomas and Lady Southern snapped at Queen's Pier yesterday afternoon when bidding farewell to many well-wishers prior to their departure on leave.

BRITAIN'S RYDER CUP TEAM

YOUNG "HOPES" SELECTED SEVERAL NEW PLAYERS

London, June 7.

Britain has selected her Ryder Cup golf team to oppose America at Southport on June 26 and 27. The team includes some of England's youngest golfers who have won their spurs in open tournaments during the last twelve months.

The team will be:

Percy Alliss (Beaconsfield)
A. Dalley (Brandy Hall)
W. H. Davies (Wallasey)
A. J. Lacey (Selsdon Park)
Abe Mitchell (Unattached)
A. H. Padgham (Ashdown Forest)
A. Perry (Leatherhead)
Charles Whitcombe (Crews Hill)

Reserves:

S. Easterbrook (Knowle)
A. Havers (Sandy Lodge)

Of the team which represented England in 1931, only W. H. Davies, Abe Mitchell, and Charles Whitcombe retain their places, Easterbrook and Havers being relegated to reserves. Archie Compston, George Duncan, F. Robson, E. R. Whitcombe and Bert Holdson who played in 1931 are left out.—Reuter.

JEWISH SERVICES TO CIVILISATION

Anglo-Palestine Exhibition Speeches

London, June 7.

The Prime Minister, opening the Anglo-Palestine exhibition in London to-day paid a tribute to the great services which the Jewish people have rendered to progress in science, art and politics and civilisation generally.

Recalling his experiences during his visit to Palestine, he referred to the remarkable efforts of all classes in building up the National Home for the Jewish people and agreed with Lord Reading, who presided, that the future of the people of Palestine depended on healthy, loyal understanding and co-operation between the Jews and the Arabs.—British Wireless.

THE CRISIS HABIT

DISARMAMENT PARLEY OBSTACLES

ANOTHER HASTY ADJOURNMENT

Geneva, June 7.

The Disarmament Conference is again faced with the prospect of a breakdown by reason of irreconcilable differences.

Difficulties which have cropped up on practically every important issue, including Security, the definition of an aggressor State, naval and aerial disarmament, have again plunged the gathering into the doldrums.

As a result of the 'critical' situation, the Bureau of the Conference and the Executive Committee have decided to adjourn the Conference until June 27.

MR. HENDERSON'S EFFORTS

In the meantime, Mr. Arthur Henderson, the President, is proceeding to London this week-end to negotiate with the various delegations (who will be in London in connection with the Economic Conference) in an endeavour to smooth out the difficulties which are holding up Lord Londonderry, progress with the Draft Convention.

Hopes meanwhile are also centred upon the talks which are being initiated in Paris to-morrow between Mr. Daladier, the French Premier, Mr. Norman Davis, Lord Londonderry, the British Air Minister and Captain Eden.

These conversations have as their objective the finding of some basis of understanding on the main difficulties.—Reuter.

FRENCH AMENDMENTS

The General Commission of the Disarmament Conference considered the French amendments on the questions of the limitation and the supervision of the manufacture of arms, which were criticised by Germany, and the Italian and British delegates, who reserved the attitude of their Governments.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Chairman, Mr. Arthur Henderson to negotiate with the delegates chiefly interested.—British Wireless.

MR. T. V. SOONG TO VISIT COMMONS

GUEST OF THE CHINA COMMITTEE

London, June 7.

It is learned that Mr. T. V. Soong does not intend to make any public statement on the Far Eastern or economic questions at the present time.

His next outstanding engagement is the dinner which is to be given in his honour in the House of Commons on Tuesday by the China Committee.—Reuter.

HEAVY FALL IN GERMAN BONDS

MORATORIUM PLAN RUMOURS

New York, June 7.

German Bonds dropped from one to five points on the New York Stock Exchange to-day, owing to the receipt of report from Berlin that Germany will declare a moratorium on foreign payments to-morrow (Thursday).—Reuter.

PRINCE GEORGE ON BIG BEN

UNUSUAL VIEWS OF LONDON

London, June 7.
Unusual views of London were gained by Prince George, who, this afternoon, climbed the network of the temporary steel scaffolding which has been erected around the Big Ben clock-tower at the Houses of Parliament.—British Wireless.

THE OUTLAW

NO RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO

LEAGUE'S REPORT ADOPTED

Geneva, June 7.

The League of Nations does not intend, if it can possibly help it, to leave the slightest loophole whereby Manchukuo might secure even tacit recognition as an independent State by other countries.

Action to prevent the recognition of Manchukuo in all spheres of international activity is provided for in the report of the special sub-committee appointed to study the question.

The Report was to-day unanimously adopted by the Advisory Committee which is dealing with the Far Eastern question.

The Report aims at making impossible the admission of Manchukuo to any of the various international conventions, such as the International Postal and Telegraph Unions, while Manchukuo currency will not be recognised.—Reuter.

GREECE LOSING DAVIS CUP MATCH

Czecho-Slovakia in A Strong Position

Prague, June 7.

Czecho-Slovakia gained a decided advantage in the opening stages of their third round Davis Cup tie with Greece to-day, winning the first two singles.

Siba, although taken to four sets by Nicolaides, the Greek second string player, was never in difficulties, and after winning the first set at 6-3, and conceding the next by the same score, ran away with the third and fourth with the loss of three games.

Menzel, the Czecho-Slovakian No. 1 required only three sets to dispose of Stalos, but the second and third were hard fought affairs, going to ten and 16 games respectively.

The results as supplied by Reuter were:

Siba (Czecho-Slovakia) bent Nicolaides (Greece) 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Menzel (Czecho-Slovakia) Stalos (Greece) 6-2, 6-4, 9-7.

THE PHILIPPINE MISSION

TO-NIGHT'S FUNCTION CALLED OFF

Owing to the indisposition of some of the members of the Philippines Independence Mission and also to pressure of important official business the Dinner Party-Dance which was to be held in their honour at the Roof Garden of the Peninsula Hotel to-night must necessarily be called off at the request of said Mission, says a communication from the President of the Filipino Club, Mr. L. P. Ildefonso.

And the New Bandeau Is the Key to Straying Locks

Little diadem bandeaux add romance to new coiffures and also keep them in place.

Whether you wear your hair in ringlets or brush it back from your forehead to be piled high at the back or gathered into a snood, a diadem bandeau is new and interesting. On this Dumas coiffure, where the hair is parted through the middle until the bangs are reached, then swerved to give a flat wave to the bangs over the forehead, the bandeau holds the bangs on the left and on the right holds back the curls.

You can wear one of these bandeaux slanting across your back hair when you have a bobbed swirl and no curls. It is also interesting when you wear it farther back, just beyond the crown of your head.

YOUR CHILDREN.

By Olive Roberts Barton

Not long ago I put in a protest against the still, expressionless mother who keeps a mask between herself and her children lest she betray an emotion that is supposed to be bad for them.

To-day it behooves me to make still another protest, this time against the children themselves. Not little children, but older ones, especially girls who have taken for their fetish that terrible word "poise."

Poise in itself is not a bad word. It means presence of mind, control of one's feelings and no untoward show of emotion. This is all right, of course. Nothing is so tiresome as those people who wear their hearts on their sleeves, so to speak, and shout to the world their troubles or their joys on each and every occasion.

Two Kinds of Poise
But poise as so many of our young women practice it to-day has become a tiresome thing. The difference between a natural poise and an assumed one is the difference between a real flower and a wax one.

A friend of mine, a woman of middle age who has attained the quiet grace and gentleness of years of living said to me recently, "I went to Clara's (her niece) party. There were about twenty young girls there playing bridge. I felt as though I had stepped into a refrigerator."

"Not that they weren't pleasant. They were so carefully polite I felt like a bull in a china shop. But they all had deadly masks instead of faces. Even their smiles were contrived to show their best points. I am sure that when they are fifty they won't have a wrinkle. 'Now I know those girls and their parents. They come from real homes. No one on earth taught them to be so artificial except themselves. It is fashionable to have 'poise.' My, but I dislike the word!"

Be Human, First!
I seconded her ultimatum with an amen. I have had the same experience.

Now when a girl is 14 or 15 it is seemly that her mother should begin to shape her deportment. It is a fine thing to explain to her that her heretofore good-fellow manner, chin-on-hand posture, and rakish dressing need to be sandpapered and rubbed down.

But since this fad for a rigid poise has seized us I believe there is still another job to be done. "Be controlled," it is wise to say, "be gentle and don't be all over the place, but for goodness sake, child, be natural. Don't be a stick of wood even if it is carved beautifully. Statues bore everyone to death. Your muscles were made to move, that's why your face has some thousand or so of them. Don't let them get too stiff. Let people know you are human." Then in a few years perhaps the middle-aged ladies won't get so tired. Or don't they count?

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

New Beauty Aids for Spring Evenings

By Alicia Hart

There's magic glamour in some of the new spring evening make-up gadgets.

For instance, one manufacturer has analyzed types so that anybody can find herself in the eight specified groups. For each group there is a warm, tinted powder that will match the skin yet give it life and appeal.

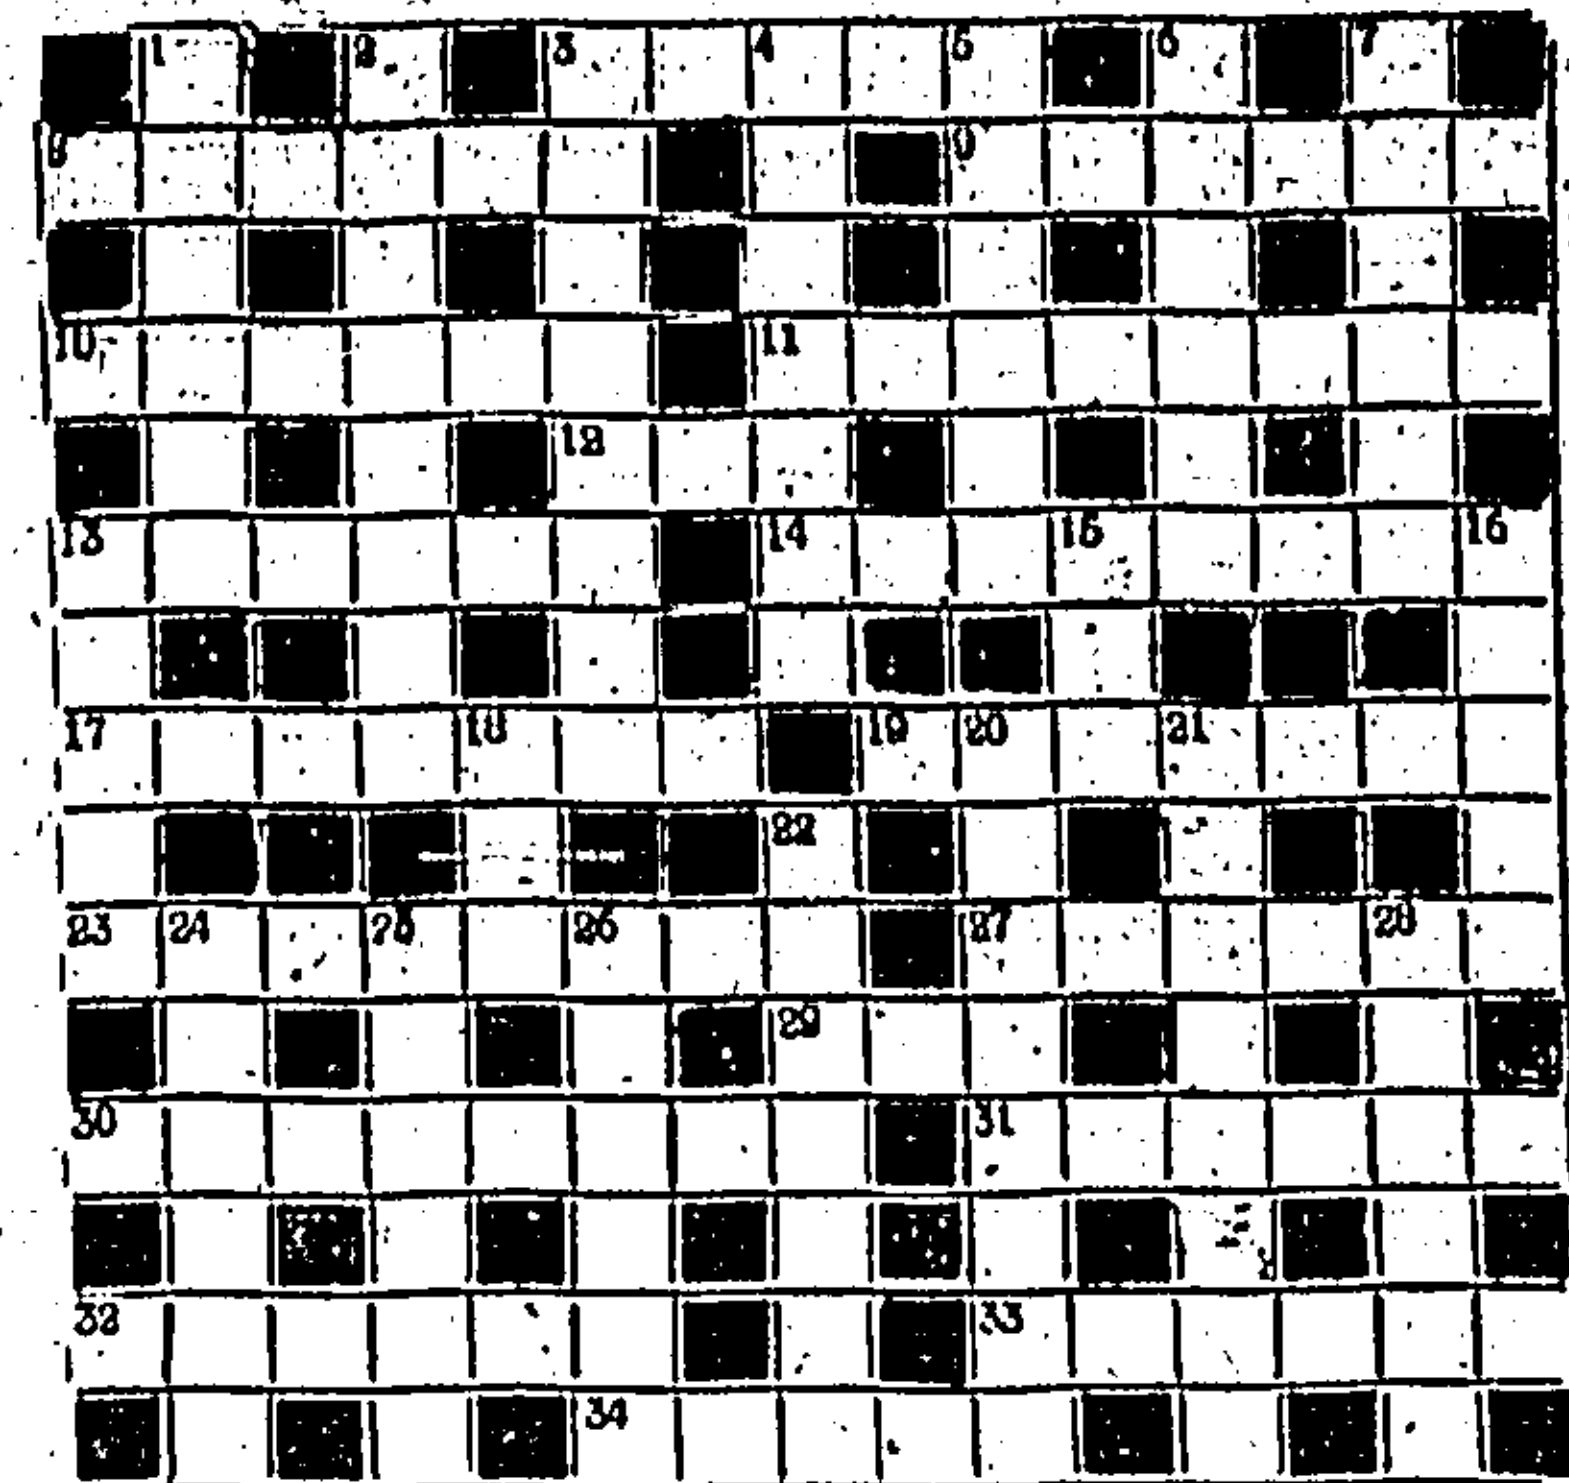

There is an eye-shadow for each of these eight types for evening that will heighten the eye's colour because the eye-shadow is matched to the eyelid's tone. Very different from using either bald blue or brown eye-shadow!

An entirely different approach to evening beauty comes via the new lavender powder for blondes to use under electric lights, and green powder for brunettes. They are awful in the daytime. But they do do something for you under strong artificial lighting!

Lipsticks for evening should always be vivid. Try a very light one, even if you are a medium blonde or brunette. If your lips happen to have a purplish tone—and don't think many a healthy woman doesn't have bluish-purple in her lips, for she does—then use the lightest blonde lipstick and see how grand it is in the evening. You'll emerge from this beauty treatment a more interesting person, vivid, glowing with life.

And don't forget the good old mascara for special evenings!

DARLING FOOL

MCCELLIOTT

She went upstairs with a step determinedly swift. Not for worlds would she let any of them know what it cost her to hide the hurt in her heart. Dan back—and he hadn't called her! When she was fairly seething for the sight of him—for the clasp of his hand! Maybe Kay had been mistaken, maybe she had been merely spiteful! But no, even Kay in a tantrum was not likely to invent the spectacle of Dan and Sandra Lawrence together.

At the thought Monnie's pulses began to hammer, and that feeling of sinking—sinking—seized her once more. Sandra, who was so cool and sure of herself, who after a year at finishing school in the east had gone to Paris to return clanking with bracelets, redolent of strange, alluring scents, wearing the most extreme and bizarre costumes Belvedere had seen these many moons.

Monnie quieted the raging tumult within her. Dan and Sandra—why, there was nothing to it. They belonged to the same crowd, knew the same people. It was only the merest accident, probably, that they had met that day. Sandra knew how Dan felt about Monnie. Didn't she stop in at the store often to whisper charmingly, "I suppose you've heard from someone in the city? I know that was why you looked so pretty today?"

Monnie was proud of Sandra's friendship. Sandra, who could know anyone and was invited everywhere, who was so clever and might have been a writer or an artist if she put her mind to it (she said so herself). Only Sandra had been born to money. The Lawrences owned the paper mills out on the River road and Sandra, last of the line, lived with her father in the handsome stone pile on the Hill. Near the Cardigans. That was how she happened to know Dan so well.

Dan—Dan—Dan!

Monnie ran water in the tub and sifted in a handful of pine-needle salts. Maybe he would call any minute now. People always did telephone the instant you got into the tub. She shut off the faucet, struck by the dreadful thought that she might miss him. But mother would know how important it was. Mother would call her!

Trembling with excitement, Monnie dashed through her bath, slipped into clean underthings and donned the coolest of her few frocks, a last year linen that had been blue tinted when new and was now the colour of late evening sky.

"Monnie!" That was Kay's voice, on the landing.

"Coming!" Monnie sang, almost gayly.

Kay linked her arm in that of her elder sister. "I'm sorry I was so nasty," she said, very low. "I didn't mean it. Only—only—everything's so rotten—"

Monnie stifled the alarm she felt. "How do you mean?"

Kay sniffed. "Oh, this miserable town and the people and the way you get high-balled if you're poor. I'm going to get out of it—"

They were almost at the foot of the stairs now. Monnie warned: "Don't let Mother hear you!" She thought, all three were just a little plained

"Poor kid! I must do something for her—must help her to have a good time."

They all sat down. Monnie looked around, her eyes quivering.

"Bill?"

She thought her mother's smile seemed forced.

"He phoned he had to work... and would get something to eat near the shop."

Mark, freckled, red-haired, put in mischievously, "Bet he's got a girl over at Snowden. Bet he has."

Kay frowned at him.

"Well, if he has," said Mrs. O'Dare tranquilly, "I hope she's a nice girl and I hope she likes him."

"He hasn't been seeing much of Gertrude lately, has he?" Monnie asked, attacking her plate with the zest of healthy youth. She felt rested now, she felt the might put her worries and fears behind her in the best atmosphere of home.

Mrs. O'Dare answered the question. "I don't think so," she said. "Gertrude passed me at church Sunday in a great hurry—didn't even stop to speak. I thought—I guessed—she was hurt about something. She's a sweet girl—and very fond of Bill."

Mrs. O'Dare always tried to speak well of everyone. Her children knew that. That was why they held their tongues about Gertrude. Privately, all three were just a little plained to know that the affair of Bill and Gertrude was waning. Gertrude was plump and prim and talkative—although the traits did not seem to go together. Monnie, especially, felt Bill deserved something better than Gertrude. Why, there wasn't the thinnest scrap of glamour in an affair like this. Suppose Bill should marry and settle down—marry Gertrude, that is—and begin to raise a family right there in Belvedere! He'd be doomed. He wouldn't have a chance. Bill wanted to learn, to do something big, to visit far-off places and make a name for himself. Marriage with Gertrude Hamstead would finish him, once and for all.

Into Monnie's reverie clanged the shrilling telephone bell. Kay made a half movement to answer it, but fell back as she saw her sister's eager expression. Monica tried to move slowly, not to seem too excited, but her hand trembled as she lifted the receiver.

"Hello?" She made her voice sound cool and impersonal. Dan must not know she had been waiting for him so patiently.

"Oh, yes?" There was flatness in her tone now. Kay recognized it. So did her mother, listening in spite of herself. "Yes. Yes. I'll tell him. Thanks."

She hung up, hating to go back to the table. She managed a smile of delicious brightness. "That was Frank Robinson. He wants Bill to call him."

Mrs. O'Dare said she would tell him. She did not look at Monnie.

"No dessert for me, thanks," Kay chattered, helping to remove plates. She was Monnie could see, making conversation, trying to bridge over the awkward moment. Kay could be kind when she wasn't thinking entirely of herself.

"—and they say he's frightfully rich. Awfully good-looking. He's something like Gary Cooper—"Who was Kay talking about? Monnie sat up, began to listen.

"He's taken the old Waterman place out on the River road," Kay chattered. "Doesn't seem to do anything much. Stretches out in a deck chair in the morning and goes riding in the afternoon."

"What's his name?" Mrs. O'Dare inquired. Her life was so restricted now that she welcomed news of the outside.

Kay wrinkled her brows. "I'll swear I knew it this morning," she offered, "but can't think of it at the moment. We were standing on the school steps when he rode by. Allie Niles said he smiled at her—"

"—you—don't—see—always—thinking—somebody's paying attention to you," growled Mark disgustedly. His mother reproved him.

"Son, what a name to use to your sister!"

He grinned at her. "Mom, you know it's the truth. This Eustace—he's a great guy. I saw him flashin' off the bridge last Saturday. He thinks they're a lot of crazy kids."

"Eustace—that's his name," Kay confirmed. "Charles Eustace. What do you know about him?" she demanded, staring Mark down.

"Plenty," said Mark importantly. "He's O. K., he is. And he doesn't care for women."

THE EMPIRE DAY DINNER which was held at the Metropole Hotel, Shanghai, met with unqualified success. In the above group are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hughes, Capt. J. E. Inch, Lieut.-Col. L. M. Cosgrave, Sir Victor Sassoon, The Very Rev. Dean A. C. S. Trivett, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Falkner, Mrs. Morris W. Stranack, Mr. Bruce McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. E. Shotter, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Manley, Comdr. G. A. Whitting, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Venters, Mrs. A. W. Harvey, Mrs. J. A. Trevor Thomas, and several others.

Miss Nina Barsamova, Shanghai Movie Queen, who left last week for America on a visit to Screenland, has been extensively entertained here during the weeks prior to her departure. The above photograph was taken as she stood on the tender which conveyed her to the Dollar liner President Hoover.

THE FLOATING BAMBOO BRIDGES of Inner China are unique. This one crossing the Ya River, a tributary of the Yangtze, is near Yachow, where the Empress Dowager was born. This bridge is strong enough to bear an automobile. Jack Young, the photographer, who arrived in Shanghai the past week, took the photograph.

The opening match of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association League was played last Saturday on the S.L.B.C. greens between the Lawn Bowls Club "Blues" and Junior Golf Club. The match of the American Silk Expedition, who arrived in Shanghai the past week, had to be abandoned owing to rain when the home bowlers were leading by 36 to 31.

enough with which to buy! Plenty of Money is available. We can have as much money in the world as we say we require, no more, and no less. It is up to the world to say what it wants. These may sound extravagant statements. Let us examine their truth. In order to do so, we will adjust our focus by a run through the principles behind our Money System, and the subject of Physical Wealth.

(This is the first of a series of articles on the World-Crisis and the remedies, by a local student of world economics. To-morrow's article, continuing the introductory stage, will deal with the meaning of Money.)

-DARLING FOOL-

Kay giggled. Mark was irresistibly funny. "Allie says she thinks he's an artist or a writer," she went on. "Eustace?" Mrs. O'Dare mused. "One of the Waterman girls married a man named Eustace, a New Yorker, when I was just a child. This must be her son."

Monnie scarcely heard them. Kay's "crushes" were many and various. The newcomer, whoever he might be, was sure to be right if Mark sponsored him. Mark would know if he were bogus. But what did all this matter—where was Dan? Her head began to ache, and there was a nervous throbbing back of her eyes.

"We'll do the dishes, Mother," she said. "Kay and I. You go and lie down."

Mrs. O'Dare pushed her gently aside. "Nonsense, when you've changed your dress and freshened up."

Monnie set her jaw. "I'm going to wash dishes tonight. Nothing shall stop me."

She put a big checked apron on over the faded linen. She took the dishpan from its rail, filled it with warm soapy water. With vigour she sloshed the cups and saucers in and out, finding in the homely task some succor from her pain. She could be useful, anyway, even if Dan didn't want her.

Lost in a daydream, she went through her work. She would work hard, she would earn enough to take them all away from Belvedere. Years later, busy, successful and happy, she would return. She would see an old, tired-looking man on Main street. Someone would say, "There's Monnie O'Dare, the famous (author, actress, singer)." The man would look up, his grin features working with emotion. He would mutter, "My Monnie. And I lost her, fool that I was."

It would be Dan, tired, broken, disappointed. She shivered the drainboard with melancholy, the illacs sent their fresh water, wrung out her cloth with an expert motion. Kay had finished the last of the silver, had fitted up stairs. Though the half open door, Monnie could see her mother dozing over the evening paper in the bay window. Evening had settled down over the little town. The yard looked fragrance through the dusk. As the girl turned to put out the light, she heard a firm step on the side porch. Her first thought was that it was Bill, returning early. She went to the screen door. Amber eyes stared up at the man who stood without. "I rang at the front several times," he said quietly. "I guess no one heard." Monnie managed to control the tremor in her voice as she answered him. "Come in, Dan," she said softly. "He was back, and he hadn't forgotten her!" (To Be Continued.)

CAN YOU DO THIS WITH YOUR TOOTHBRUSH?

Does the bristle head of your toothbrush fit fair and square into that arch? No? Then it can't fit fair and square into the arch of your teeth either. But Tek can do it. Tek fits its full face into every curve of the arch—upper and lower. Relieved of the usual load of useless bristles, Tek's short head reaches everywhere, cleans everywhere. In its rapid passes Tek gives the gums a mild massage—gentle to begin with, until they become firm and strong and of a healthy colour. But only Tek can do it because of its shape and size. Get used to Tek and you'll use no other. Tek brushes are sold surgically clean in a sealed carton. See that the carton is unbroken. Six colours. Hard or medium, also extra hard (unbleached).

FUTURE OF CIVIL LIBERTY

It is a pity that the Society for the promotion of Civil Rights in China should have fallen into hands which appear to be using it for other ends. We well understand the attraction of such a society for Dr. Hu Shih. He early in the regime of Chiang Kai-shek came out in strong opposition to the Nanking Government because of its abuse of its powers during the period of tutelage, and urged the speedy setting up of a constitutional government, to whose laws the members of the government, from the highest down, should be amenable. We do not know the internal history of the society, but we notice that Mrs. Sun Yat-sen is a prominent member, and that after a very terrible indictment of the treatment of prisoners in the military prisons in Peking—an indictment full of shuddering horrors—Dr. Hu Shih resigned his connexion. The suggestion is that the society is being used for the purposes of the more extreme party, and that the document in question was a forgery. In any case if Madame Sun is a loyal, if extreme, follower of the Founder of the Party, she is unlikely to be greatly interested in the specific questions of civil liberty. Dr. Sun in his Three Principles throws over the claims of the individual, and urges that if any conflict of opinion occurs between him and the Party the individual must submit. It was to this principle that Chiang Kai-shek with grim humour appealed when he arrested that orthodox representative of the Kuomintang, Mr. Hu Han-min, an arrest which has had such far-reaching and deplorable consequences. Moreover, Madame Sun is popularly supposed to be in close sympathy with the revolution. This does not necessarily mean that she is not interested in the question of civil liberty; but the fact remains that China took over from Russia the idea of party dictatorship, and its corollary that other parties are to be rigorously suppressed. It is however not only in China and Russia that civil liberty is threatened. Wherever the one-party dictatorship is in practice, in Italy, and now, in Germany, there is an end to civil liberty, and for amicable (or acrimonious) political discussion the administration of castor oil, or a whipping, with occasional political murder, or judicial sentence to appalling terms of imprisonment, are substituted. After the growth and achievement of liberty and tolerance in the 19th century the world is threatened with what has always been the more customary rule of intolerance and persecution.

International Club

It has long been said that there is little or no public spirit in Hongkong; that we are too self-centred to bother ourselves about conditions and problems around us unless they affect us as individuals. This accusing finger has, perhaps, been levelled at us rather unfairly, and in recent years at least there has been an effort to promote and encourage social welfare. In this direction, it is pleasing to note the latest movement—the International Women's Club. Founded on similar institutions now successfully in operation in Colombo, Canton and other places in the East, the Hongkong Club was officially launched on Tuesday, signalling the last public appearance of Lady Southern prior to her departure on home leave. The objects of the Club are well known. It is organized primarily for the benefit of the working girls of the Colony and provides facilities for recreation and relaxation from the cares and worries of the office. The movement deserves the fullest support.

WORLD CRISIS

I: OUR CONCERN IN THE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

BY FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

We are now on the verge of the Economic Conference. What is it all about? To the man who has not much concerned himself with the Science of Economics, the questions involved will be somewhat puzzling.

There is a general disinclination, particularly in Hongkong and even by people (here and elsewhere) who are acutely affected by the present chaotic state, to attempt to understand the causes from which they are suffering. Perhaps there is plenty of excuse. The variety of aspects which are presented from time to time are somewhat disconnected.

In the space of this short Article, an attempt will be made to put, in some sort of sequence, the ideas behind the work of the Conference.

The findings and decisions of the Conference are every man's concern. They are important to all, whether they be Parson, Banker, Merchant, Tradesman, Railway Clerk or Public Servant. Upon success depends whether this generation is to have a present existence of reasonable occupation, and a fair measure of Physical Wealth, and a future of security; as opposed to the present order of things, anxiety and uncertainty.

FUNDAMENTAL CAUSES.

Undoubtedly, there is something radically wrong, and the work of the Conference is to find out the cause. Their task is not easy. When they put their finger on the cause, they have then the job of designing a perfect system for an imperfect people.

The causes are fundamental, and if we are to obtain a clear view of the position, we have therefore some fundamental thinking to do. It is useless considering the leaves and twigs of the question, we have to concern ourselves with the roots. Emerson remarked "When every man's chief concern is to watch that he does not cheat his neighbour, 'all will go well'." Under circumstances of this nature, the major portion of the complicated accountancy, banking, and general economic procedure, as we know it to-day would fall away. But, we have to meet facts as they are, and deal with a system which is based largely on the premise "That every man watches that his neighbour shall not cheat him." For this reason alone, we can expect the Conference to be slow in arriving at effective decisions, while some of the apparent facts, which will come before them, promise to call for such drastic changes in our economic system, that no Conference can be expected to swallow them at one gulp. However, if the facts are truly recognised, and our system partially altered, to be in sympathy with them, and the evolutionary direction, much will have been achieved.

THE MALADY.

What is the malady from which we are suffering, and which the Economic Conference will seek to cure? It is something serious.

It has been with us for the last dozen years, and is not improving, but getting worse. The symptoms are evident. Since the malady started, hundreds of reputable and long established industrial, commercial, and financial firms, have passed out of existence. Nations, like a common defaulter, have failed in their financial obligations. Men in responsible positions have been driven to dishonourable courses. Peers in galli financiers, industrialists, millionaires committing suicide to escape the heavy burdens of adversity. Millions of worthy men morally broken and without employment. The major portion of the world's populace living in a state of anxiety and uncertainty. The natural desire of Man for advancement and progress almost stifled. If we prepared a list of financial crashes, frauds, scandals, of first class magnitude, which have occurred in Britain, America, Germany, and France during the last few years, it would be both voluminous and startling.

Is there justification for all this? Certainly not! Every natural sign loudly proclaims the converse.—Plenty, Prosperity, and Progress. This order of things is absent, only because of some basic fault in our Economic System. There are two conditions only, expansion and contraction;—increasing trade or diminishing trade. "Expansion is the only one which answers the natural Laws of evolution. A new World awaits us; one of abundant wealth, if we will accept it. Take off the shackles of the present system, give the technician freedom, and more and more will be available. Never in history have we had such control of physical wealth. Food, which at one time was our chief concern takes little more than 5% of our effort to-day. So plentiful are commodities at the present time, that in order to preserve our present money conditions, they have to be wantonly destroyed. Foodstuffs, raw materials, and machinery suffer thus, and is put out of cultivation, and productive plants scrapped, and all this at a time when human desires, and demands for physical wealth, are at a maximum. Unfortunately, all destruction seems to be to no purpose. There are strong indications that it cannot this time save the money system, though it may have done so in the past.

CHANGE OF IDEAS.

The technician has solved the question of prolific production to such an extent that the degree of shortage required to reanimate the money system cannot be reached. Another way must be found. The fact is generally recognised, and it explains the urgency of the Economic Conference.

Why should we live in a state of depression? Physical wealth, and prosperity are there for all. It is only a mental attitude which obscures it. Existing circumstances eventually will compel us to change our ideas and standards. Exercise of intelligence to-day will avoid the ill-effects of fumbling out of our difficulties.

A popular cry is "We are short of money!" or "There is not money" (Continued on Page 5.)

The Very Idea!

ENDURANCE RECORDS

By Edward "Marathon" Kelly.

WE notice in an American newspaper that a competitor in a marathon gold fishing competition went mad after sitting over the bowl with his hook and sinker for 85 hours.

Other Marathon feats in America include long distance dancing, arm chair rocking, pole-sitting, and boy and girl holders.

Edward Kelly proposes to introduce some more variety into these Marathon Games so that they can be tried in Hongkong.

PUTTING aside such well-known feats of endurance as fox-trotting, tree-sitting, piano-playing, or shroff-dodging, we have to record a number of remarkable performances which should put Hongkong on the Marathon map.

PETE WATKINS, civil servant, aged 27, after 107½ hours trying to catch a flea in his bed, was taken to the Observation Ward by the police. He was in such a state of collapse that he drank a bottle of Johnny Walker before he recovered sufficiently to resume the search.

EDWARD KELLY, popular author of note, aged, held a telephone to his ear for 45 minutes 59 seconds, while his wife told him what she thought of him for staying at the club.

YEW PAY UP, A Chinese shroff, visited Edward Kelly every third day for twelve months without collecting a cent.

P.W.D. PARTMENT, well-known Hongkong trench expert, took four months, eleven days, twelve hours and twenty-five minutes to make all the roads in the Colony unrecognisable.

O.U.R. PUBLIC, has been up the tree for 65 days, wondering when the Water Authority really will cope with the water situation.

TERENCE TENCENTS, aged 33 years, stood for 87 days 11 hours in the Hongkong Hotel, waiting for a Scotch friend to show.

Z.B.W. STATION, local radio expert, has shattered nearly every record by playing "Ain't It Grand To Be Bloomin' Well Dead" on almost every programme. The only record that hasn't been broken is "Ain't It Grand To Be Bloomin' Well Dead."

ROBERT MacWHIRTER, lawn bowls expert, at the Kowloon Bowling Green, told for the 1,189th time yesterday afternoon why he had placed the wrong bias on one ball.

IMA TAI PAN, Peak Resident, aged 55, told his Kowloon friend that it was nice and cool on the Peak so often that had the words been printed it would have still been hot in Kowloon.

REVENGE!

Why is it that tall men are punished simply because there are six or twelve inches more of them than there are of the rest of us? Is virtue like ribbon that it should be measured with a yard-stick?

Small men are pugnacious and acquisitive by nature, and do not care what happens to others so long as they themselves are comfortable. Their wives tell them this regularly, but it makes no difference. The small man may have a big wife but he is seldom hen-pecked.

Why, too, are small men so much more cocksure and conceited than their tall brethren, who live under a perpetual cloud of inferiority complex?

The tall men sometimes get their revenge by snatching the small men's sweethearts. Can you blame them?

THOSE RUBBER SHOES.

We see that the story of the rubber shoes at 2/- a dozen pairs has now been inflicted upon Hongkong's "sweat-shops" competing with British goods in England.

These shoes have had a rather interesting career, starting out as Japanese-made shoes being sold in Jamaica, developing into German-made shoes dumped into Belgium, and until their arrival in Hongkong, passed through Holland, who were dumping them into France.

We have come to the conclusion that they are not rubber shoes at all, but lemons invented for suckers.

"Wave by-by to daddy."

SCHOOLBOYS IN POLITICS

ANTI-CHIANG PARADE IN FOOCHEW

Foochow, June 4.
It looks as if the old schoolboy interference in politics might be revived in connexion with the anti-Chiang Kai-shek movement which is being launched by the Southern leaders.

On Thursday, the students of all the schools in Foochow paraded the streets in support of the movement and in favour of continued opposition to the Japanese menace.

Shops were closed that forenoon also, as a protest against the negotiations in the North.

But one wonders how all those involved could have the expert knowledge to enable them to come to a decision against the Government, and that brings in the difficult question of ulterior motives, of which the least said is the better.

What further action may be taken if this demonstration proves ineffective, remains to be seen; but those interested in the young generation have some anxiety lest a movement once started may be difficult to keep within bounds of reason.

UNIFORM EXAMINATIONS.

The Government's decision to have "Uniform Examination" for students finishing their courses in Senior and Junior Middle and Primary Schools is meeting with some opposition. On the same day on which students were showing their patriotism by parading the streets, over a hundred Senior Middle Students from seven schools met at the Government Education Office to protest against the "Uniform Exam" and demand certain alterations. They were not sympathetically received by the Commissioner, and have tried to organise a strike, but are not likely to succeed in harming anyone but themselves. It is all another indication of the indiscipline of the Age, and an example of the difficulties which officials have to meet in this period when "the Revolution is not yet complete."—Our Own Correspondent.

TIE OF 13 RUNS EACH

UNUSUAL BASEBALL MATCH

Washington, June 7.
A tie of 13 runs each was the result of a remarkable baseball match between Philadelphia and Washington Senators to-day. Rain and darkness came to put an end to the game.

Chicago and Boston in the National League and Chicago and Detroit in the American League were winners in the other matches. Result as supplied by Reuter were:

GERMAN ATLANTIC FLIGHT

AMPHIBIANS TO MAKE ATTEMPT

Berlin, June 1.
A squadron of four to six German aeroplanes of a newly-developed amphibian type will attempt a flight across the southern Atlantic next year under the command of Captain Hermann Koehl of trans-Atlantic fame. Captain Koehl is leaving on Saturday for South America on board the afloat Graf Zepplin to acquaint himself with meteorological conditions on the southern route. Before his departure for Friedrichshafen to-day he said that the new aeroplanes will be put to a severe test this autumn and that the final decision regarding the proposed flight will largely depend on the results of these trials.

CHEERED BY GUIDES.

SIR THOMAS AND LADY SOUTHOBY DEPART

The departure of the Colonial Secretary, Sir Thomas Southern, K.B.E., C.M.G., and Lady Southern for England yesterday, was marked by presence of a large gathering of friends on Queen's Pier to wish them farewell and bon voyage. Sir Thomas is going home on long leave by the a.s. Patroclus and is expected to return to the Colony on the Blue Funnel liner Aeneas about December 12.

Lady Southern is Guide Commissioner of the Colony and the Hongkong and Kowloon Companies turned out at full strength under District Commissioner Mrs. Anderson, forming a guard of honour on the pier.

Following an inspection of the Guides, Lady Southern was presented with some beautiful bouquets of esteem and affection which she and her husband have received from their friends. As they stepped into the waiting launch, the Companies gave them three rousing cheers.

Owing to the illness of His Excellency the Governor, Capt. Walter, A. D. C., represented His Excellency.

Among those present were: His Excellency the G.O.C., Major-General O. C. Borrett and Mrs. Borrett, the Rt. Rev. H. Valtorta, Vicar Apostolic of Hongkong, his Honour, Mr. Justice J. R. Wood and Mrs. Wood, Mr. M. J. Quist (Consul General for the Netherlands), M. Dufauré de la Prade (French Consul General), Dr. Bruno Hahn, (German Consul), Mr. D. Jenkins, (Consul General U. S. A.), the Hon. Mr. A. G. Alabaster, (Attorney General), the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, (Secretary for Chinese Affairs), the Hon. Mr. A. G. W. Tickle, (Director of Public Works), the Hon. Sir Shouson Chow, the Hon. Mr. C. G. S. Mackie, the Hon. Dr. A. R. Wellington, the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'ao, the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Mr. D. W. T. T. and Mrs. T. T. Lloyd, Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg, Mr. R. A. C. North, Mr. and Mrs. H. Green, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. A. Moore, Mr. N. L. Smith, Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Lo, Mr. Ho Leung, Mr. Lo Cheung-shui, Major V. Duclos, Lady Ho Tung, Mr. Li Yick-mui, Mr. T. H. King, Mr. E. I. yenne-Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Grimble, Mr. J. L. McPherson, Mr. P. G. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Newhouse.

The vestible, saloon, and passage-ways of the Patroclus were a profusion of beautiful flowers, in baskets and in the form of bouquets, significant of the regard in which Sir Thomas and Lady Southern are held in the Colony. For the floral tributes were sent to them by friends, associates, sports bodies and other institutions which have had the privilege of connection with the departing travellers.

A large number of personal friends of Sir Thomas and Lady Southern went over to the Patroclus at Holt's Wharf, to bid them bon voyage, and they were entertained aboard the ship until the departure, which was at 6.50 o'clock last evening.

MR CORDELL HULL ARRIVING EARLY VISIT TO PREMIER

London, June 7.
The United States delegation to the World Economic Conference is due in England to-morrow, headed by Mr. Cordell Hull, the United States Secretary of State. Mr. Hull took a prominent part in the Washington conversations between Mr. MacDonald and President Roosevelt and will probably visit the Prime Minister in Downing Street on Friday morning.—British Wireless.

SOONG IMPROVES.

RECOVERING FROM LONG TRIP ABROAD

London, June 7.
Mr. T. V. Soong is now recovering from the fatigue resulting from his long journey and seemed much better when interviewed by Reuter to-day on his return from a visit to Oxford, where he admired the beauty of the Colleges in company with Mr. Quo Tai-chi, Dr. W. W. Yen and Dr. Wellington Koo.

Mr. Soong has up to now done no business in connexion with the Conference. He is spending his time visiting many Chinese and British friends in London, but has not yet seen Sir John Simon.

Until the Conference opens, Mr. Soong's visit is regarded as purely private. He entertained a party of Chinese friends at lunch at the Dorchester Hotel to-day.—Reuter.

AMERICAN LOAN TO CHINA.

BREACH OF CONSORTIUM OF 1920

London, June 7.
Criticism by Shanghai business men of the American loan to China for the purchase of wheat and cotton is endorsed in the city, says The Times.

The paper points out that the United States, along with Britain, France and Japan, is a party to the Consortium agreement of 1920, the members of which pledged that any financial operations with China should be pooled, but only if a public issue were contemplated and the security was the hypothecation of Chinese national revenues.

"This means that private banking transactions do not fall within the scope of this agreement. In the present case, there is no reason to believe that a public issue is involved, but if hypothecation of national revenue, such as the Customs surtax, were to be made, it would then seem to impinge on the policy of international co-operation, envisaged by the Consortium."—Reuter Special.

Double Benefit

Nanking, June 7.
Commenting on the loan of $50,000,000 to China by the Reconstruction and Finance Corporation of the United States for the purchase of American wheat and cotton, a spokesman of the National Government said to-day that the negotiations for that loan had been progressing for more than a year and was only consummated by Mr. T. V. Soong himself during his recent visit to America.

The spokesman emphasised the mutual Chinese and American advantages of the loan.—Reuter.

ASTONISHING DEFEAT OF I.R.C.

FIRST DIV. TENNIS SHOCK

K.C.C. PLAYED TO STANDSTILL

DISMAL SHOW AGAINST THE C.R.C.

Recreio Make A Good Start to Season

(By "Veritas")

There was enough incident and a sufficient number of unexpected results in the "A" Division league tennis programme yesterday to keep tongues wagging in the club houses for the next few days.

Firstly—Defeat of the Indian Recreation Club by the South China Athletic first string. Secondly—Defeat of Craigengower, augmented by Tam Yoc-fong and Taul Yun-pui at the Club de Recreio. Thirdly—Big victory of the Chinese Recreation Club "A" at the expense of the Kowloon Cricket Club on the latter's courts.

"Sensational" can fairly be applied to the defeat of the Indians. Admittedly they were without the services of I.M.A. Razack, which meant a re-shuffling of the team, with the famous Rumjahn cousins combination broken up; even so the last thing expected was the thing which happened.

TWO CONCLUSIONS.

Two conclusions can be drawn from the result, so far as the I.R.C. are concerned. Certainly the Rumjahn partnership should never have been broken. It was good enough for three sets, and Bux would probably have performed no worse with Cassumbhoys than with H. D. The match seemed to suggest that A. R. Minu-A. H. Rumjahn combination was not quite so desirable as the trials indicated. Minu last year played with Frank Pereira and whilst acknowledging this was in the "B" Division it is on the cards that their experience together would have stood them in better stead yesterday.

But these things apart, it is to the credit of South China that they lowered the colours of the potential champions.

With only the Fincher brothers capable of making an impression, the powerful C.R.C. first string enjoyed a field day at King's Park.

TSUI'S DEBUT.

The champions boasted a definitely superior all-round balance and with Tsui Wai-pui proving an excellent successor to Yew Man-kit, their success was discernible after the first round.

It was asking a big thing of Green and Hambly to jump straight into first grade tennis against such a strong side and they not unexpectedly failed to win a set.

They held their own against W. C. Hung and Ju Tak-cheuk taking the set to ten games, but they could do little against the forceful attack of Ho Ka-lau and Taul and the steady and reliable team work of the Lo brothers.

Guest and Hyde were the biggest disappointments. They approached nowhere near their true form and seemed overawed by the occasion. They nearly snatched a set from the Lo's but throughout the afternoon came off second best in the long rallies.

Although doing most of the attacking against Ho and Taul the uncanny retrieving powers of Ho, who returned smash after smash with wonderful lobs, shook their confidence and blunders followed.

TRAGIC EXPERIENCE.

The Finchers, after having their first set with the Lo's had rather a tragic experience against Ho and Taul.

With the games at two-all and Teddy Fincher serving, Ernest made three awful bloomers at K.C.C. v. C.R.C.—The two teams which met at the K.C.C. yesterday in a first division league tennis match photographed before start. Standing, left to right are: Taul Wai-pui, E. C. Fincher, D. S. Green, Ho Ka-lau, Ju Tak-cheuk, W. C. Hung, A. E. P. Guest, M. W. Lo, W. Hyde and M. K. Lo. Sitting—R. B. Hambly and E. F. Fincher (Photo: King's Studio).

the net to throw away the fifth game. It was the turning point. Ho Ka-lau increased the lead on his own service, and although Ernest Fincher captured his, the end was in sight.

Taul Wai-pui won the eighth game on service and further errors on the part of the Finchers saw Teddy lose his second service of the set.

The Finchers should have won this set. They were playing much the better tennis up to the fifth game, but when they allowed errors to creep in it was all over bar the shouting.

W. C. Hung, who displaced Ng Sze-kwong, fulfilled all expectations with Ju Tak-cheuk by winning two sets. The pair lost to the Finchers though only after a bitter struggle, and gained fairly easy successes against the other K.C.C. pairs.

IMPRESSIONS.

Impressions left by the match were that the C.R.C. will have little cause to worry this summer and that there will certainly be no necessity for team changes.

On the other hand the K.C.C. can probably experiment in this direction with beneficial results. Unfortunately the Peninsula club are still suffering from a dearth of first grade players outside of the Finchers, Guest and Hyde.

The failure of the strengthened Craigengower side against the Recreio came as something of a surprise. None of the pairs did themselves justice. Leonard and Hachiuma lost two sets as did Tam Yoc-fong and Tsui Yun-pui.

George Lai and Robert Chou held their own better than anybody else, taking two sets to a draw of 6-all.

EXHIBITION TENNIS TO-DAY

FILIPINOS IN ACTION

AN ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME

The shower of rain early this morning had no adverse effect on the court at the Hongkong Cricket Club and it will be in good trim for this afternoon's exhibition matches between Gavina and Pollitan, the Filipino tennis exponents and local players.

An attractive programme has been arranged, the Association having invited the Rumjahn cousins, reigning champions, and Taul Wai-pui, C.R.C. singles champion, to oppose the visitors.

The games will start punctually at 4.45, the first match on the card being a two sets singles between S. A. Rumjahn (Hongkong singles champion) and Leonardo Gavina (Philippines National singles champion).

This will be succeeded by a best of three sets doubles between the Rumjahns and Gavina and Pollitan, and the final attraction is a two sets singles between Taul Wai-pui and Leopoldo Pollitan. Admission is $1 including tax and there will be ample seating accommodation.

SUNDAY'S GAMES.

On Sunday the visitors will give further exhibitions at the K.C.C. with club members, E. C. Fincher, A. E. P. Guest and L. Goldman will probably form the opposition and a similar programme to that of today will be carried out. The games will start at 4 p.m.

Efforts are also being made by Mr. L. R. Hildebrand who is responsible for the entertainment of the visitors, to play at the C.R.C. and an announcement in regard to this will be made shortly.

Golf Bad Game for Team Spirit

WHAT A DOCTOR TOLD OXFORD

London.

Golf is a selfish game—according to Dr. A.P. Cavadias. He told the conference on New Ideals in Education at Oxford that: "Rugby in my opinion is the best game to develop the team spirit, and I think golf is the worst."

Dr. Cavadias went on to say that golf was very good for the middle-aged who wanted to retain something of their flexibility of movement, and to learn to keep their tempers. "But," he declared, "it is really a selfish game, and I do not think we should let young people develop with it."—Reuter.

HOCKEY MEETING.

Formation Of Association To Be Discussed.

A meeting has been called for Thursday, June 22, for the purpose of discussing the formation of an Association in Hongkong to take complete control of all hockey activities in the Colony.

The convener is Mr. J. E. Potter and the meeting will be held at Volunteer Headquarters, commencing at 5.45 p.m. Local hockey clubs and teams have been circulated to send representatives.

The Club Lusitano $2 cash sweep for the first race last Saturday was won by Mr. J. Busto, a member of the Club, who collected $3,000.18. The second prize of $1,410.30 was won by a syndicate of Portuguese clerks. Only two ponies started in the race.

HAMPTON'S SMART RECOVERY CHAMPIONSHIP BOWLS

THREE MATCHES YESTERDAY

What looked likely to be a very easy win for W. Wotherspoon the Taihook Dock representative in the lawn bowls, singles championship, yesterday, determined itself into a hard fight, Wotherspoon's opponent, E. W. Simmonds, of the Civil Service effecting a smart recovery and eventually scored 18 shots.

Wotherspoon was early in the lead and by a display of consistent bowling increased it head by head until 12-3 at the ninth head and 19-14 at the 20th.

The Taihook Dock player ran out to his points with a single and a very fine three, but it was touch and go.

H. Overy, the K.C.C. skip put up rather a disappointing show against E. M. Remedios of the Recreio, losing by 23 shots to 10. Overy held his own up to the ninth, when he led 9-3, but thereafter took a very back seat and it was not until ten heads later that he scored another, and his last, point.

At the 20th Remedios needed but one shot for game, and he made no mistake about it by scoring a three.

HAMPTON'S FRIGHT.

Harry Hampton indulged in a spectacular recovery to lend colour and interest to his match with V. Pethorick. The latter, after playing excellent bowls, was beaten on the 24th head by 21-17.

The Bowling Green Club exponent started the game with some fireworks, jumping into a lead of 11-all. Hampton, however, gradually settled down, and at the 14th had completely altered the complexion of the game, leading by 13-12, and he never looked back.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

FUNCTION AT KOWLOON UNION CHURCH

A delightful Birthday Tea Party and Concert, given by the members of the Women's Guild, was held in the Kowloon Union Hall, Jordan Road, yesterday afternoon.

The tables were set and decorated to represent the different months of the year, guests being expected to take tea at their "birthday table."

After tea, a short speech was made by Mrs. E. L. Allen, President of the Women's Guild, in which she welcomed all the guests and wished them many happy returns, although she said she was aware that many present had now reached an age when birthdays might be forgotten.

Afterward, an excellent concert was given, commencing with a pianoforte solo by Mrs. F. Short, which was followed by "There's A Land" sung delightfully by Mrs. W. Gardiner.

Community singing, enjoyed by all, was followed by Mrs. J. J. Cornelius singing "There's A Song Down Every Roadway."

Mrs. Cornelius, who leaves for Home shortly, was then presented with a coffee set by Mrs. E. L. Allen who, on behalf of the Guild, thanked Mrs. Cornelius for all the work she had done while a member of the Committee.

Mrs. W. H. C. Robson also contributed to a delightful programme by singing "The Valley of Laughter."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

The new grand slam bonus for rubber bridge has without a doubt stepped up the bidding of grand slams. The award is now large enough that one can well gamble to bid a grand slam even though it depend upon a finesse or the breaking or establishment of a side suit.

The grand slam bonus, I believe, has also improved the play. Players get themselves into a slam contract and must stop to reason the hand out from every angle in order to make their contract.

A pretty squeeze play for seven odd was recently made by Mr. Robert W. Halpin of Chicago, a past president of the American Bridge League and captain of the well-known Chicago bridge Club team, on the following hand:

The Bidding.

His partner in the South opened the contracting with one diamond. Mr. Halpin in the North had a four and a five-card suit, but due to the fact that he could make a one over one, he bid one spade.

South bid three spades—a game force. Mr. Halpin definitely knew that the hand was going to be played for at least a small slam and decided to see if he could not arrive at the grand slam. He responded with four clubs, and South bid four diamonds to show tops in diamonds.

Mr. Halpin then showed the ace of hearts by a bid of four hearts. South bid five spades and Mr. Halpin went to seven.

The Play.

East's opening lead was the king of hearts which Mr. Halpin in the North won with the ace. He immediately saw that he must get a break in clubs or diamonds in order to get a heart discard, so he decided to try for the club suit and led the ace and king of clubs followed by small club, ruffing the third club in dummy. East discarded a heart.

When he found that he had a bad break in clubs, Mr. Halpin could not try to establish the diamond suit with a ruff, as that would bring him to three trump in each hand, so he was forced to depend upon a squeeze.

He led the eight of spades from dummy and won in his own hand with the nine. He led another club, trumping in dummy with the ace of spades. The jack of spades was returned from dummy and won by Mr. Halpin with the king.

He then led two more rounds of spades, which brought him down to the five of hearts, seven and deuce of diamonds and eight of clubs.

East stripped down to the queen of hearts and three diamonds to the queen. Dummy held the ten of hearts and the

NEW BUS SERVICES

THE BLAKE PIER-TAIKOO
FARE REDUCED

The China Motor Bus Company will take over the bus services in Hongkong, including the Kennedy Town-Tai Hang route and Blake Pier-University route, now run by the Hongkong Hotel, and the Blake Pier-Happy Valley route now run by the H.K. Tramway Company, from Sunday next, while the Company will also take over the West Point-Aberdeen service from Saturday morning.

Mr. Ngan Shing-kwan, the Managing Director of the China Motor Bus Company, told a representative of the S. C. M. Post yesterday afternoon that his Company had decided to reduce the fares for the Blake Pier-Taikoo No. 2 Route, from twenty cents to ten cents, as from Sunday morning, while the existing charges for all other routes will be maintained.

Mr. Ngan said that the Company had taken over some fifty cars from the Hongkong companies, and at a subsequent date the Company might repaint the entire fleet to give the vehicles a more uniform appearance, but nothing would be done for the time being.

Some of the conductors and drivers formerly employed by the China Motor Bus Company in Kowloon would be used for the new Hongkong services, but Mr. Ngan added that some of the drivers and conductors formerly engaged by the Hongkong Hotel and the Tramway Co. would be employed.

Schedules of the different routes might be subjected to some slight

KALGAN FIGHTING

NANKING TROOPS MEET
FENG'S ALLIES

Peking, June 7.
Chinese reports state that some fighting broke out between Peking and Kalgan to-day when troops of General Fang Chen-wu, who is accepting Feng Yu-hsiang's orders, tried to disarm the forces under Feng Chan-hai, who recently declared that he was loyal to Nanking.

The result at present is unknown. Meanwhile, the Manchukuo commander, Liu Kuei-tang, is threatening Kalgan, Feng's base. It is stated that Liu has reached and occupied Paochan, sixty miles from Kalgan.—Reuter.

NUMBERS DECREASING

FIGURES

London, June 7.
There were 115,000 fewer unemployed in Great Britain on May 22 than on April 24 and 158,000 less than a year before, according to issued figures.

The total number of men now wholly unemployed in Great Britain is 1,908,000.—Reuter Special.

alterations, according to Mr. Ngan, and the new time tables would be announced in due course, when the Company had given the matter fuller consideration.

The China Motor Bus Company has found a temporary garage for its fleet of vehicles in Watson Road, at Causeway Bay.

MA AT NANKING.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME FOR WARRIORS

Nanking, June 6.
The Nanking Railway station was thronged with a tremendous crowd waiting the arrival of Generals Ma Chan-shan and Su Ping-wen who are due here shortly after 10 o'clock this evening.

As soon as news of their coming to the Capital was received, local public bodies made hasty preparations to welcome them. Huge banners were hung across the main thoroughfares of the Capital and posters displayed in the city proclaiming the welcome to the two national heroes.

Later.
Generals Ma Chan-shan and Su Ping-wen have arrived and were welcomed by a huge crowd. They are at present staying at the Officers' Moral Endeavour Association's premises.—Reuter.

Later.
General Ma Chan-shan and Su Ping-wen, who are at present paying a visit here, told interviewers to-day that they would shortly proceed to Nanchang to report to General Chiang Kai-shek regarding the position of the Chinese Volunteers in Manchuria.

They called on Mr. Lin Sen, Chairman of the National Government. In the afternoon they called on several of the Cabinet Ministers. They also called on Mr. Wang Ching-wei to whom they submitted a report regarding their activities in Manchuria last year.

Generals Ma and Su will be guests of Honour at a banquet given by Mr. Wang Ching-wei to-night.—Reuter.

WAR DEBT ISSUE DECISION

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 8, 9.58 a.m.)

London, June 8.
It is authoritatively understood that the British Government is not waiting for any Message from President Roosevelt in regard to the instalment of the war debt due on June 16.
The Cabinet will meet to-morrow at a special meeting. Whether or not any Message is received, it will decide whether or not to default on the payment.

LOST EXPLORER FOUND

DR. NILS AMBOLT QUITE SAFE

SIX MONTHS' SILENCE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Peking, June 8.
Dr. Sven Hedin, the famous explorer and leader of the Central Asia Expedition has informed a Reuter correspondent that during the night he received a telegram, via Kashgar, stating that the missing scientist, Dr. Nils Ambolt, who has been lost since November last, is quite safe in Khotan, South-West Turkistan and that he is returning to China through India.
The telegram does not state whether Dr. Ambolt's instruments and baggage, containing the result of his four years' work are safe.
Recently a relief party was formed to seek the missing scientist, and the expedition may proceed to meet Dr. Ambolt at Turkistan.

The rescue expedition for the Swedish scientist was started with the departure by air last month of another member of the Sven Hedin expedition who flew to Suchoa, Kanan, to join a fellow member of the expedition.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

London, June 8.
Jim and Amy Molison attempted to take off at Croydon aerodrome at 5.30 this morning in an attempt to fly direct to New York from where it was planned to make a record non-stop flight to Bagdad, but after travelling 100 yards, the machine toppled over.

The strut of the under-carriage collapsed and both under wings were broken.

The Molisons were not injured but it is believed impossible to start within a week.

When the mishap occurred the machine was carrying a load of three tons and had not risen from the ground.

The plane is not wrecked but the propeller was bent and the engines torn away.

Both Amy and her husband are very disappointed.—Reuter.

FIFTY MACHINES DESTROYED

ENORMOUS DAMAGE IN WIDE AREA

CARELESSNESS IN HANDLING BOMBS

TOKYO, JUNE 8.

WITH FIRES STILL RAGING AND EXPLOSIONS CONTINUING, THE EXTENT OF THE CASUALTIES AND THE DAMAGE IN THE HAMAMATSU DISASTER IS STILL UNKNOWN.

It has, however, assumed the proportions of a major disaster, and further extensive damage is feared.

Fifty aeroplanes are reported to have been wholly or partly destroyed.

Three powder magazines have already gone up with terrific explosions.

A big ammunition dump has disappeared in a series of shattering detonations.

A petrol tank, several large oil tanks and a large number of public buildings have been destroyed.

The origin of the disaster is uncertain, but it is believed to have been due to carelessness in the handling of air-bombs which were being transported from the arsenal.

The scene of the disaster, as briefly reported last night, is the Hamamatsu Air Corps station, near Tokyo.

The first explosion occurred at 8.40 p.m. last night, but it was of small proportions and only minor damage was caused. The blast, however, started a conflagration which six minutes after the explosion set fire to the main petrol tank at the air station.

Explosions then followed in rapid succession. The three powder magazines were soon disappearing in smoke, the ammunition dump was next to go. In the dump were a large number of heavy aerial bombs and it was these that caused the greater part of the damage and the casualties.

The oil tanks have been blazing ever since.—Reuter.

B. & S. OFFICERS' FATE

RELEASE PROSPECT GLOOMIER

Mukden, June 8.

The prospects of the release of the Nanchang British officers are gloomier than ever.

Despite the fact that a dozen relatives of the bandits are now being held as counter-hostages, the pirates, whose ranks have been swelled to 200 are still insisting on fabulous demands.

They have scornfully disdained offers of immunity and enrolment in the Manchukuo Army, and the Japanese authorities have come to the conclusion that negotiations are of no avail and that more drastic measures are required.—Reuter.

JEWISH SERVICES TO CIVILISATION

Anglo-Palestine Exhibition Speeches

London, June 7.
The Prime Minister, opening the Anglo-Palestine exhibition in London to-day paid a tribute to the great services which the Jewish people have rendered to progress in science, art and politics and civilisation generally.

Recalling his experiences during his visit to Palestine, he referred to the remarkable efforts of all classes in building up the National Home for the Jewish people and agreed with Lord Reading, who presided, that the future of the people of Palestine depended on healthy, loyal understanding and co-operation between the Jews and the Arabs.—British Wireless.

GREECE LOSING DAVIS CUP MATCH

Czecho-Slovakia in A Strong Position

Prague, June 7.

Czecho-Slovakia gained a decided advantage in the opening stages of their third round Davis Cup tie with Greece to-day, winning the first two singles.

Siba, although taken to four sets by Nicolaides, the Greek second string player, was never in difficulties, and after winning the first set at 6-3, and conceding the next by the same score, ran away with the third and fourth with the loss of three games.

Menzel, the Czecho-Slovakian No. 1 required only three sets to dispose of Stalos, but the second and third were hard fought affairs, going to ten and 16 games respectively.

The results as supplied by Reuter were:

Siba (Czecho-Slovakia) beat Nicolaides (Greece) 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Menzel (Czecho-Slovakia) Stalos (Greece) 6-2, 6-4, 9-7.

MR. T. V. SOONG TO VISIT COMMONS

London, June 7.

It is learned that Mr. T. V. Soong does not intend to make any public statement on the Far Eastern or economic questions at the present time.

THE OUTLAW

NO RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO.

Geneva, June 7.

The League of Nations does not intend, if it can possibly help it, to leave the slightest loophole whereby Manchukuo might secure even tacit recognition as an independent State by other countries.

Action to prevent the recognition of Manchukuo in all spheres of international activity is provided for in the report of the special sub-committee appointed to study the question.

The Report was to-day unanimously adopted by the Advisory Committee which is dealing with the Far Eastern question.

The Report aims at making impossible the admission of Manchukuo to any of the various international conventions, such as the International Postal and Telegraph Unions, while Manchukuo currency will not be recognised.—Reuter.

Vienna, June 7.

Although a ban has been placed against their representation of Germany in several sports, including lawn tennis and boxing, German Jews will not be excluded from the next Olympic Games.

The German delegate said that all Olympic regulations would be observed.—Reuter.

ENTHUSIASM DAMPENED

Rome, June 8.

The initialling of the Four Power Pact is apparently not to be taken as settling Europe's difficulties.

Information from Berlin and Paris shows that a good deal of anxious negotiation is still necessary and that upon their success will depend the ratifications.

It is learned, for instance, that the German adhesion to the Pact was still very doubtful yesterday morning and that it was only made possible by Signor Mussolini's action in personally telephoning to Herr Hitler in the afternoon.

GERMAN VIEWS.

That the Pact does not in any way fulfil Germany's hopes in its present diluted form is the standpoint of German official quarters, but the essential thing is that it has been possible to conclude the Pact at all.

It is felt that the agreement envisages a new starting-point for the treatment of European political problems. The fact that it contains an Article dealing with the revision of the Treaty of Versailles is regarded as important, but it is regretted that it has been found impossible to reconcile the Franco-German viewpoints in regard to equality of armaments.

FRENCH INSISTENCE.

It is emphasised that French insistence on the right to veto German armaments plans is inadmissible and that the German declaration of December 5 in regard to armaments equality, and everything that Herr Hitler said in his Reichstag speech, are still valid, without reservations and in no way limited by the Four-Power Pact.

PARIS CONDITIONS.

In French Governmental circles, the initialling of the Pact is similarly regarded as only the first step towards the stabilisation of European peace.

Officials say that before signature of the Pact, negotiations must be resumed to fix the practical application of the Pact, to improve Franco-Italian relations and then the relations between Italy and the Little Entente.—Reuter.

TRANSFORMATION SCENES

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE PREPARATIONS

MEN WORKING NIGHT AND DAY

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH").

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 8, 9.58 a.m.)

LONDON, JUNE 8.
HUNDREDS OF MEN ARE WORKING NIGHT AND DAY IN A RACE TO CONVERT THE NEW ROYAL GEOLOGICAL MUSEUM AT SOUTH KENSINGTON IN TIME FOR THE KING'S RECEPTION ON MONDAY OF THE DELEGATES TO THE WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

The main hall, which is usually the repository for thousands of geological specimens is being altered on a grand scale to accommodate the Conference.

At one end of the pillared hall in which are hanging the flags of all nations, stands the great dais in dark green and gold from which His Majesty the King, speaking through a microphone, will broadcast an address of welcome throughout the world, while twenty-four loud-speakers will carry his words to a thousand immediate listeners.

PLANS FOR MONDAY'S CEREMONY

There will be delegates from no fewer than sixty-six nations at the Conference, and every effort has been made to render fitting the accommodation for what will undoubtedly be the greatest international gathering of statesmen and experts in the history of the world.

From most countries, the leading delegates will be the most prominent figures in the Cabinet.

BRIEF CEREMONY.

After a brief and business-like opening ceremony, the King will depart, and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald will deliver the Presidential speech.

The first few days of the Conference will be devoted to statements by the leaders of the different delegations upon the causes and the suggested cures for the world trade depression.

TALKING FILMS.

On one side of the Great Hall of the Geological Museum has been erected a large wooden structure which seems to resemble a conning-tower.

This will accommodate a battery of cinema and talking-picture apparatus, which will record most of the happenings and speeches during the plenary sessions of the Conference.

THE REAL WORK.

It is probable that apart from plenary sessions for the making of general declarations or meetings to approve the reports of committees much of the Conference will be private.

PRINCE GEORGE ON BIG BEN

UNUSUAL VIEWS OF LONDON

London, June 7.

Unusual views of London were gained by Prince George, who, this afternoon, climbed the network of the temporary steel scaffolding which has been erected around the Big Ben clock-tower at the Houses of Parliament.—British Wireless.

In any case, as in all big international gatherings, the real work of bringing about agreements will be done in the Ministers' rooms.

Two main commissions will probably be set up:— (1) To deal with tariffs and quotas and other obstacles to trade; (2) currency stability, gold standard and exchange restriction.

War debts are excluded from the agenda, but are bound to be discussed by the chief delegates.

"FREE HOUSE."

It is estimated that at least two thousand people will actively participate in its work. They will enjoy many unexpected amenities, such as the suspension for their benefit of the licensing restrictions.

Nearly every Embassy in London has been asked to ascertain and name the favourite drinks of their representatives at the Conference.

The facilities for telephonic and telegraphic communications, with all parts of the world will be upon an unparalleled scale.—Reuter.

THE COURT MOVES TO WINDSOR

PRINCESS ELIZABETH ATTENDS TATTOO

London, June 7.

The King and Queen left Buckingham Palace this afternoon by road for Windsor Castle, where the Court will remain for about a fortnight, the King returning to London on Monday to open the World Economic Conference.

Princess Elizabeth, with her parents, the Duke and Duchess of York, to-day attended the full dress rehearsal of the Aldershot Military Tattoo at which 60,000 children in school parties were present.—British Wireless.

LOCAL SHOWERS

The Royal Observatory reports that the depression is situated over the north part of the Sea of Japan. The anticyclonic area over the Lower Yangtze Valley has increased slightly in intensity and pressure is relatively low over Tongking. Local forecast:—South-west or variable winds, moderate, fair generally with local showers.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

Romantic!—

And the New Bandeau Is the Key to Straying Locks

Little diadem-bandeaux add romance to new coiffures and also keep them in place.

Whether you wear your hair in ringlets or brush it back from your forehead to be piled high at the back or gathered into a snood, a diadem bandeau is new and interesting. On this Dumas coiffure, where the hair is parted through the middle until the bangs are reached, then swerved to give a flat wave to the bangs over the forehead, the bandeau holds the bangs on the left and on the right holds back the curls.

You can wear one of these bandeaux slanting across your back hair, when you have a bobbed swirl and no curls. It is also interesting when you wear it farther back, just beyond the crown of your head.

YOUR CHILDREN.

By Olive Roberts Barton
Not long ago I put in a protest against the still expressionless mother who keeps a mask between herself and her children lest she betray an emotion that is supposed to be bad for them.

To-day it behooves me to make still another protest, this time against the children themselves. Not little children, but older ones, especially girls who have taken for their fetish that terrible word "poise."

Poise in itself is not a bad word. It means presence of mind, control of one's feelings and no untoward show of emotion. This is all right, of course. Nothing is so tiresome as those people who wear their hearts on their sleeves, so to speak, and shout to the world their troubles or their joys on each and every occasion.

Two Kinds of Poise
But poise as so many of our young women practice it to-day has become a tiresome thing. The difference between a natural poise and an assumed one is the difference between a real flower and a wax one.

A friend of mine, a woman of middle age who has attained the quiet grace and gentleness of years of living said to me recently, "I went to Clara's (her niece) party. There were about twenty young girls there playing bridge. I felt as though I had stepped into a refrigerator.

"Not that they weren't pleasant. They were so carefully polite I felt like a bull in a china shop. But they all had deadly masks instead of faces. Even their smiles were contrived to show their best points. I am sure that when they are fifty they won't have a wrinkle. Now I know those girls and their parents. They come from real homes. No one on earth taught them to be so artificial except themselves. It is fashionable to have 'poise.' My, but I dislike the word!"

Be Human, First!
I seconded her ultimatum with an amen. I have had the same experience.

Now when a girl is 14 or 15 it is seemly that her mother should begin to shape her deportment. It is a fine thing to explain to her that her heretofore good-fellow manner, chin-on-hand posture, and rakish dressing need to be sand-papered and rubbed down.

But since this sad for a rigid poise has seized us I believe there is still another job to be done. "Be controlled," it is wise to say, "be gentle and don't be all over the place, but for goodness sake, child, be natural. Don't be a stick of wood even if it is carved beautifully. Statues bore everyone to death. Your muscles were made to move, that's why your face has some thousand or so of them. Don't let them get too stiff. Let people know you are human." Then in a few years perhaps the middle aged ladies won't get so tired. Or don't they count?

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

New Beauty Aids for Spring Evenings

By Alleen Hart

There's magic glamour in some of the new spring evening make-up gadgets.

For instance, one manufacturer has analyzed types so that anybody can find herself in the eight specified groups. For each group there is a warm, tinted powder that will match the skin yet give it life and appeal.

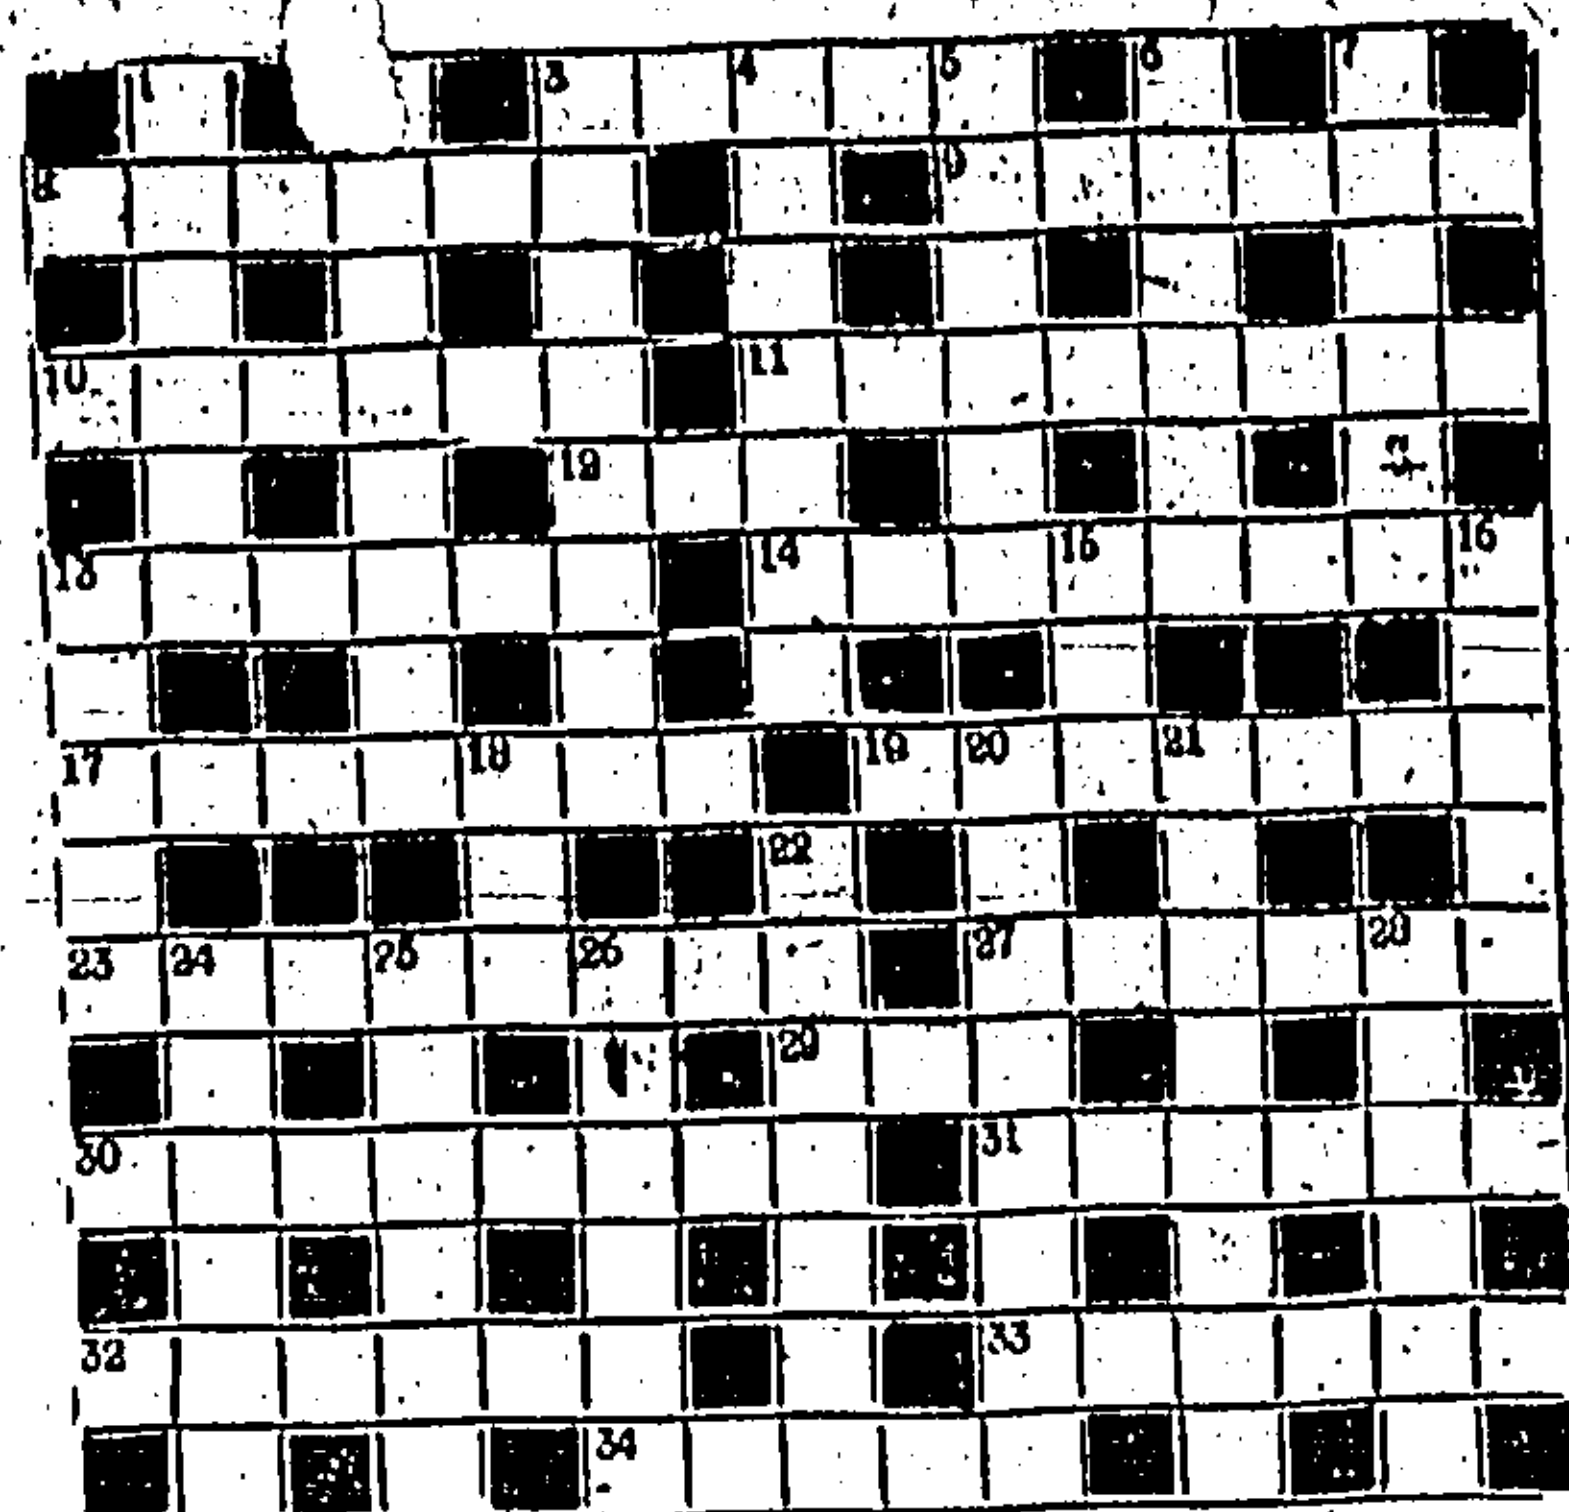

There is an eye-shadow for each of these eight types for evening that will heighten the eye's color because the eye-shadow is matched to the eye's tone. Very different from using either bald blue or brown eye-shadow!

An entirely different approach to evening beauty comes via the new lavender powder for blondes to use under electric lights, and green powder for brunettes. They are awful in the daytime. But they do something for you under strong artificial lighting!

Lipsticks for evening should always be vivid. Try a very light one, even if you are a medium blonde or brunette. If your lips happen to have a purplish tone—and don't think many a healthy woman doesn't have bluish-purple in her lips, for she does—then use the lightest blonde lipstick. And see how grand it is in the evening. You'll emerge from this beauty treatment a more interesting person, vivid, glowing with life.

And don't forget the good old mascara for special evenings!

DARLING FOOL

MCELLIOTT

She went upstairs with a step determinedly swift. Not for worlds would she let any of them know what it cost her to hide the hurt in her heart. Dan back—and he hadn't called her! When she was fairly aching for the sight of him, for the clasp of his hand! Maybe Kay had been mistaken, maybe she had been merely spiteful! But no, even Kay in a tantrum was not likely to invent the spectacle of Dan, and Sandra Lawrence together.

At the thought Monnie's pulses began to hammer and that feeling of sinking—sinking—seized her once more. Sandra, who was so cool and sure of herself, who after a year at finishing school in the east had gone to Paris to return clanking with bracelets, fadulent of strange, alluring scenes, wearing the most extreme and bizarre costumes Belvedere had seen these many moons.

Monnie quieted the raging tumult within her. Dan and Sandra—why there was nothing to it. They belonged to the same crowd, knew the same people. It was only the merest accident, probably, that they had met that day. Sandra knew how Dan felt about Monnie. Didn't she slip in at the store often to whisper charmingly, "I suppose you've heard from someone in the city? I know that was why you looked so pretty to-day."

Monnie was proud of Sandra's friendship. Sandra, who could know anyone and was invited everywhere, who was so clever and might have been a writer or an artist if she put her mind to it (she said so herself). Only Sandra had been born to money. The Lawrences owned the paper mills out on the River road and Sandra, last of the line, lived with her father in the handsome stone pile on the Hill. Near the Cardigans. That was how she happened to know Dan so well. Dan—Dan—Dan!

Monnie ran water in the tub and sifted in a handful of pine-needle salts. Maybe he would call, any minute now. People always did telephone the instant you got into the tub. She shut off the faucet, struck by the dreadful thought that she might miss him. But mother would know how important it was. Mother would call her!

Trembling with excitement, Monnie dashed through her bath, slipped into clean underthings and donned the coolest of her few frocks, a last year linen that had been lilac tinted when new and was now the colour of late evening sky.

"Monnie!" That was Kay's voice, on the landing.

"Coming!" Monnie sang, almost gayly.

Kay linked her arm in that of her elder sister. "I'm sorry. I was so nasty," she said, very low. "I didn't mean it. Only—only—everything's so rotten—"

Monnie stifled the alarm she felt. "How do you mean?"

Kay sniffed. "Oh, this miserable town and the people and the way you get high-hatted if you're poor. I'm going to get out of it—"

They were almost at the foot of the stairs now. Monnie warned: "Don't let Mother hear you!" She thought,

"Poor kid! I must do something for her—must help her to have a good time."

They all sat down. Monnie looked around, her eyes questing.

"Bill!"

She thought her mother's smile seemed forced.

"He phoned he had to work and would get something to eat near the shop."

Mark, freckled, red-haired, put in, mischievously, "Bet he's got a girl over at Snowdon. Bet he has."

Kay frowned at him.

"Well, if he has," said Mrs. O'Dare tranquilly, "I hope she's a nice girl and I hope she likes him."

"He hasn't been seeing much of Gertrude lately, has he?" Monnie asked, attacking her plate with the zest of healthy youth. She felt rested now, she felt she might put her worries and fears behind her in that atmosphere of home.

Mrs. O'Dare answered the question. "I don't think so," she said. "Gertrude passed me at church Sunday in a great hurry—didn't even stop to speak. I thought—I guessed—she was hurt about something. She's a sweet girl—and very fond of Bill."

Mrs. O'Dare always tried to speak well of everyone. Her children knew that. That was why they held their tongues about Gertrude. Privately all three were just a little pleased to know that the affair of Bill and Gertrude was waning. Gertrude was plump and prim and talkative—although the traits did not seem to go together. Monnie, especially, felt Bill deserved something better than Gertrude. Why, there wasn't the tiniest scrap of glamour in an affair like this. Suppose Bill should marry and settle down—marry Gertrude, that is—and begin to raise a family right there in Belvedere! He'd be doomed. He wouldn't have a chance. Bill wanted to learn, to do something big, to visit far-off places and make a name for himself. Marriage with Gertrude Hampstead would finish him, once and for all.

Into Monnie's reverie clanged the shrilling telephone bell. Kay made a half-movement to answer it, but fell back as she saw her sister's eager expression. Monnie tried to move slowly, not to seem too excited, but her hand trembled as she lifted the receiver.

"Hello?" She made her voice sound cool and impersonal. Dan must not know she had been waiting for him so patiently.

"Oh, yes?" There was faintness in her tone now. Kay recognized it. So did their mother, listening in spite of herself. "Yes. Yes. I'll tell him. Thanks."

She hung up, hating to go back to the table. She managed a smile of delicious brightness. "That was Hank Robinson. He wants Bill to call him."

Mrs. O'Dare said she would tell him. She did not look at Monnie.

"No dessert for me, thanks," Kay chattered, helping to remove plates. She was, Monnie could see, making conversation, trying to bridge over the awkward moment. Kay could be kind when she wasn't thinking entirely of herself.

—and they say he's frightfully rich. Awfully good-looking. He's something like Gary Cooper. Who was Kay talking about? Monnie sat up, began to listen.

"He's taken the old Waterman place out on the River road," Kay chattered. "Doesn't seem to do anything much. Stretches out in a deck chair in the morning and goes riding in the afternoon."

"What's his name?" Mrs. O'Dare inquired. Her life was so restricted now that she welcomed news of the outside.

Kay wrinkled her brows. "I'll swear I knew it this morning," she offered, "but can't think of it at the moment. We were standing on the school steps when he rode by. Allie Niles said he smiled at her."

"Aw, you dopes are always thinking someone's payin' attention to you," growled Mark disgustedly. His mother reproved him.

"Son, what a name to use to your sister!"

He grinned at her. "Mom, you know it's the truth. This Eustace—he's a great guy. I saw him flash off the bridge last Saturday. He thinks they're a lot of crazy kids."

"Eustace—that's his name," Kay confirmed. "Charles Eustace. What do you know about him?" she demanded, staring Mark down.

COMMENCING SATURDAY AT THE CENTRAL.

THE EMPIRE DAY DINNER which was held at the Metropole Hotel, Shanghai, met with unqualified success. In the above group are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hughes, Capt. J. E. Inch, Lieut.-Col. L. M. Cosgrave, Sir Victor Sassoon, The Very Rev. Dean A. C. S. Trivett, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Falkner, Mrs.

Morris W. Stranack, Mr. Bruce McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. E. Shotter, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Manley, Comdr. G. A. Whitting, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Venters, Mrs. A. W. Harvey, Mrs. J. A. Trevor Thomas, and several others.

Boy Scouts, brownies, girl guides and cubs, representing almost every British group and company in Shanghai, commemorated Empire Day at ceremonies held at the British Consulate and at the Holy Trinity Cathedral. Top photo was taken after general salute was sounded. In the foreground, from left to right, are Mr. A. G. N. Ogden, Superintending Consul; Mr. W. J. Silvey, Assistant Scout Commissioner; Mr. N. S. Jacobs, Assistant Scout Commissioner; Mrs. G. W. Morris, Divisional Guide Commissioner; Acting Consul-General J. W. O. Davidson and Acting Scout Commissioner J. P. Jones. Bottom photo shows a number of the girl guides and brownies assembled on the grounds of the Holy Trinity Cathedral, where they were guests of the United Services Association at a bun and cocoa breakfast.

Miss Nina Barsamova, Shanghai Movie Queen, who left last week for America on a visit to Screenland, has been extensively entertained here during the weeks prior to her departure. The above photograph was taken as she stood on the tender which conveyed her to the Dollar liner President Hoover.

The opening match of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association League was played last Saturday on the S.L.B.C. greens between the Lawn Bowls Club "Blues" and the Junior Golf Club. The match had to be abandoned owing to rain when the home bowlers were leading by 36 to 31.

THE FLOATING BAMBOO BRIDGES of Inner China are unique. This one crossing the Ya River, a tributary of the Yangtze, is near Yachow, where Empress Dowager was born. The bridge is strong enough to bear an automobile. Jack Young, member of the American Sikkim Expedition, who arrived in Shanghai the past week, took the photograph.

SCHOOLBOYS IN POLITICS

ANTI-CHIANG PARADE IN FOOCHOW

Foochow, June 4. It looks as if the old schoolboy interference in politics might be revived in connexion with the anti-Chiang Kai-shek movement which is being launched by the Southern leaders.

On Thursday, the students of all the schools in Foochow paraded the streets in support of the movement and in favour of continued opposition to the Japanese menace.

Shops were closed that forenoon also, as a protest against the negotiations in the North.

But one wonders how all those involved could have the expert knowledge to enable them to come to a decision against the Government, and that brings in the difficult question of ulterior motives, of which the least said the better.

What further action may be taken if this demonstration proves ineffective, remains to be seen; but those interested in the younger generation have some anxiety lest a movement once started may be difficult to keep within bounds of reason.

UNIFORM EXAMINATIONS.

The Government's decision to have "Uniform Examination" for students finishing their courses in Senior and Junior Middle and Primary Schools is meeting with some opposition. On the same day on which students were showing their patriotism by parading the streets, over a hundred Senior Middle Students from seven schools met at the Government Education Office to protest against the "Uniform Exam" and demand certain alterations. They were not sympathetically received by the Commissioner, and have tried to organize a strike, but are not likely to succeed in harming anyone but themselves. It is all another indication of the indiscipline of the Age, and an example of the difficulties which officials have to meet in this period when "The Revolution is not yet complete."—Our Own Correspondent.

NEW BUS SERVICES

THE BLAKE PIER-TAIKOO FARE REDUCED

The China Motor Bus Company will take over the bus services in Hongkong, including the Kennedy Town-Tai Hang route and Blake Pier-University route, now run by the Hongkong Hotel, and the Blake Pier-Happy Valley route now run by the H.K. Tramway Company, from Sunday next, while the Company will also take over the West Point-Aberdeen service from Saturday morning.

Mr. Ngan Shing-kwan, the Managing Director of the China Motor Bus Company, told a representative of the S. C. M. Post yesterday afternoon that his Company had decided to reduce the fares for the Blake Pier-Tai Koo No. 2 Route, from twenty cents to ten cents, as from Sunday morning, while the existing charges for all other routes will be maintained.

Mr. Ngan said that the Company had taken over some fifty cars from the Hongkong companies, and at a subsequent date the Company might repaint the entire fleet to give the vehicles a more uniform appearance, but nothing would be done for the time being.

Some of the conductors and drivers formerly employed by the China Motor Bus Company in Kowloon would be used for the new Hongkong services, but Mr. Ngan added that some of the drivers and conductors formerly engaged by the Hongkong Hotel and the Tramway Co. would be employed.

Schedules of the different routes might be subjected to some slight alterations, according to Mr. Ngan, and the new time tables would be announced in due course, when the Company had given the matter fuller consideration.

The China Motor Bus Company has found a temporary garage for its fleet of vehicles in Watson Road, at Causeway Bay.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

For the first time in their respective film careers, John Blondel and Stuart Erwin are co-featured in the leading roles in a movie, in "Make Me a Star," a comedy-romance which comes on Sunday to the Queen's.

Miss Blondel has risen from obscurity to stardom in the past two years, and has been rewarded with one of the biggest fanmail lists in Hollywood. She was "discovered" on Broadway in a small part and drafted into motion pictures. Her first big hit came with her characterization of a "hard-boiled" type in "Office Wife," with Dorothy Mackaill. Her more recent roles have been in "Miss Pinkerton," "The Famous Ferguson Case," and James Cagney's "The Crowd Rides."

Stuart Erwin who plays the role of the country store clerk who goes to Hollywood and makes good, is another film star who has risen quickly to the top. His first big part was in "Sweetie," as the bewitched college boy who couldn't get up courage enough to say "I Love You," to Helen Kane.

"Scarface"

Racketeering in all its ramifications, particularly that branch which centres its activities in the illicit liquor traffic, is forcibly pictured in "Scarface," the Howard Hughes epic which will come to the King's Theatre on Sunday.

The result is a vehicle which for sheer dramatic power has seldom been equaled upon stage or screen, as has been attested by stage and film producers, playwrights and public officials who have witnessed the picture at private previews.

Rackets, as newspaper readers have long since learned, are illegal activities organized upon a business basis, and it is the working of this tremendous organization which is pictured so forcibly in "Scarface."

The completeness and the extent of the gangster system is the biggest police problem in the United States to-day.

Hundreds of swindlers, pickpockets, and gamblers, petty thieves and idlers of the evening are dependent upon the racketeer for existence. Even the hotels are not immune.

All of this can be changed and gangland wiped out once and for all, according to the picture just released by Howard Hughes, the young producer, who has spent millions of dollars giving splendid screen entertainment to the public.

Hughes points out that the gangster shows no mercy and none must be extended to him. Wipe out the racketeer, down with the gunman and show no mercy whatever to the mobster who are responsible for the loss of millions of dollars in property every year, and the taking of innumerable lives.

"Scarface" tells of the rise and fall of Tony Camonte, and the leading role is played by Paul Muni, famous character actor. Ann Dvorak, a new leading woman, is on the cast, and William Boyd, Karen Morley and other players of importance.

"Hot Saturday"

"Hot Saturday," the story of a girl who walked home from a Saturday-night date, but awoke Sunday morning to find she might have saved herself the trouble, commences to-day at the Queen's Theatre.

Cary Grant, Nancy Carroll and Randolph Scott have the leading roles. The supporting cast includes Lillian Bond, Rita La Roy, William Collier, Sr., Edward Woods, Jessie Arnold, Rose Coughlan, 2nd, and Jans Darrow.

"It's A King"

Sydney Howard has been provided with a great opportunity for displaying that guileless innocence and bland drollery which together combine to make him such a distinctive and popular comedian, in his new film, "It's A King." The picture has an ideal setting, full of colour and spectacle. The story gives abundant scope for the comedian's talent, and right royally does he rise to the occasion. It is a splendid comedy.

SOONG IMPROVES.

RECOVERING FROM LONG TRIP ABROAD

London, June 7. Mr. T. V. Soong is now recovering from the fatigue resulting from his long journey and seemed much better when interviewed by Reuter to-day on his return from a visit to Oxford, where he admired the beauty of the Colleges in company with Mr. Quo Tai-chi, Dr. W. W. Yen and Dr. Wellington Koo.

Mr. Soong has up to now done no business in connexion with the Conference. He is spending his time visiting many Chinese and British friends in London, but has not yet seen Sir John Simon.

Until the Conference opens, Mr. Soong's visit is regarded as purely private. He entertained a party of Chinese friends at lunch at the Dorchester Hotel to-day.—Reuter.

MA AT NANKING.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME FOR WARRIORS

Nanking, June 6. The Nanking Railway station was thronged with a tremendous crowd waiting the arrival of Generals Ma Chan-shan and Su Ping-wen who are due here shortly after 10 o'clock this evening.

As soon as news of their coming to the Capital was received, local public bodies made hasty preparations to welcome them. Huge banners were hung across the main thoroughfares of the Capital and posters displayed in the city proclaiming the welcome to the two national heroes.

Later.

Generals Ma Chan-shan and Su Ping-wen have arrived and were welcomed by a huge crowd.

They are at present staying at the Officers' Moral Endeavour Association's premises.—Reuter.

Later.

General Ma Chan-shan and Su Ping-wen, who are at present paying a visit here, told interviewers to-day that they would shortly proceed to Nanchang to report to General Chiang Kai-shek regarding the position of the Chinese Volunteers in Manchuria.

They called on Mr. Lin Sen, Chairman of the National Government. In the afternoon they called on several of the Cabinet Ministers.

They also called on Mr. Wang Ching-wei to whom they submitted a report regarding their activities in Manchuria last year.

Generals Ma and Su will be guests of Honour at a banquet given by Mr. Wang Ching-wei to-night.—Reuter.

AMERICAN LOAN TO CHINA.

BREACH OF CONSORTIUM OF 1920

London, June 7. Criticisms by Shanghai business men of the American loan to China for the purchase of wheat and cotton is endorsed in the city, says The Times.

The paper points out that the United States, along with Britain, France and Japan, is a party to the Consortium agreement of 1920, the members of which pledged that any financial operations with China should be pooled, but only if a public issue were contemplated, and the security were the hypothecation of Chinese national revenues.

"This means that private banking transactions do not fall within the scope of this agreement. In the present case, there is no reason to believe that a public issue is involved, but if hypothecation of national revenue, such as the Customs surtax, were to be made, it would then seem to impinge on the policy of international co-operation, envisaged by the Consortium."—Reuter Special.

Double Benefit

Nanking, June 7. Commenting on the loan of $550,000,000 to China by the Reconstruction and Finance Corporation of the United States for the purchase of American wheat and cotton, a spokesman of the National Government said to-day that the negotiations for that loan had been progressing for more than a year and was only consummated by Mr. T. V. Soong himself during his recent visit to America.

The spokesman emphasised the mutual Chinese and American advantages of the loan.—Reuter.

NOTED PUBLISHER DIES IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, June 6. Mr. Cyrus Herman Kotzschmar, best known as the publisher of the Saturday Evening Post, most widely circulated magazine in America, died to-day.—Reuter.

Mr. Curtis was president of the Curtis Publishing Company, a leading American house, and from batteries of presses in New York and in this city, he produced The Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies Home Journal, the Country Gentleman and the New York Evening Post. Every one of these publications has immense prestige in its field.

He operated his magazines on a system calculated to build them to a pinnacle of circulation. For the best procurable material, his editors were prepared to pay the best prices in the country. His staffs were selected wisely and handsomely remunerated. Thus Mr. Curtis won the reputation for being the most generous employer-publisher in the United States.

KALGAN FIGHTING

NANKING TROOPS MEET FENG'S ALLIES

Peking, June 7.

Chinese reports state that some fighting broke out between Peking and Kalgan to-day when troops of General Fang Chen-wu, who is accepting Feng Yu-shiang's orders, tried to disarm the forces under Feng Chan-hai, who recently declared that he was loyal to Nanking.

The result at present is unknown. Meanwhile, the Manchukuo commander, Liu Kuei-tang, is threatening Kalgan, Feng's base. It is stated that Liu has reached and occupied Paochan, sixty miles from Kalgan.—Reuter.

MR CORDELL HULL ARRIVING

EARLY VISIT TO PREMIER

London, June 7.

The United States delegation to the World Economic Conference is due in England to-morrow, headed by Mr. Cordell Hull, the United States Secretary of State. SIR THOMAS AND LADY SOUTHOHN DEPART

The departure of the Colonial Secretary, Sir Thomas Southorn, K.B.E., C.M.G., and Lady Southorn for England yesterday, was marked by presence of a large gathering of friends on Queen's Pier to wish them farewell and bon voyage.

Sir Thomas is going home on long leave by the s.s. Patroclus and is expected to return to the Colony on the Blue Funnel liner Aeneas about December 12.

Lady Southorn is Guide Commissioner of the Colony and the Hongkong and Kowloon Companies turned out at full strength under District Commissioner Mrs. Anderson, forming a guard of honour on the pier.

Following an inspection of the Guides, Lady Southorn was presented with some beautiful bouquets in addition to the many tokens of esteem and affection which she and her husband have received from their friends. As they stepped into the waiting launch, the Companies gave them three rousing cheers.

Owing to the illness of His Excellency the Governor, Capt. Walter, A. D. C., represented His Excellency.

Among those present were: His Excellency the G.O.C., Major-General O. C. Borrett and Mrs. Borrett, the Rt. Rev. H. Valtorta, Vicar Apostolic of Hongkong, his Honour, Mr. Justice J. R. Wood and Mrs. Wood, Mr. J. Quist (Consul General for the Netherlands), M. Dufau de la Prade (French Consul General), Dr. Bruno Hahn, (German Consul), Mr. D. Jenkins (Consul General U. S. A.), the Hon. Mr. A. G. Alabaster (Attorney General), the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, (Secretary for Chinese Affairs), the Hon. Mr. A. G. W. Tickle, (Director of Public Works), the Hon. Sir Shouson Chow, the Hon. Mr. C. G. S. Mackie, the Hon. Dr. A. R. Wellington and Mrs. Wellington, the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'ao, the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Mr. D. W. Tratman and Mrs. Tratman, Mr. J. D. Lloyd, Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg, Mr. R. A. C. North, Mr. and Mrs. H. Green, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. A. Moore, Mr. N. L. Smith, Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Lo, Mr. Ho Leung, Mr. Lo Cheung-shui, Major V. Ducas, Lady Ho Tung, Mr. Li Yick-mul, Mr. T. H. King, Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Grimble, Mr. J. L. McPherson, Mr. P. G. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Newhouse.

Aboard the Petroclus. The vestibule, saloon and passage-ways of the Petroclus were a profusion of beautiful flowers, in baskets and in the form of bouquets, significant of the regard in which Sir Thomas and Lady Southorn are held in the Colony. For the floral tributes were sent to them by friends, associates, sports bodies and other institutions which have had the privilege of connection with the departing travellers.

A large number of personal friends of Sir Thomas and Lady Southorn went over to the Petroclus at Holt's Wharf to bid them bon voyage, and they were entertained aboard the ship until the departure, which was at 6.50 o'clock last evening.

distinguished colleagues, was very gratifying. Our conversations have, I am sure, strengthened the ties of friendship between our two countries and have increased my confidence that the Economic Conference will go far toward promoting world recovery."—Reuter.

GORDON SELFRIDGE

startled London by opening a huge Departmental Store right in the heart of London's shopping centre. Some people asserted that he was unduly optimistic.

SELFDRIDGE KNEW the value of newspaper advertising, and he built his business with justified optimism on the sure foundation of newspaper advertising and publicity.

People read about the venture in their daily newspapers—just as Selfridge intended they should do—and every day since the first announcement, the house of Selfridge has been advertised in the Press.

Gordon Selfridge has such faith in newspapers, so appreciates their appeal to the Public, that he opened a special department a few years ago wherein may be obtained the leading newspapers from every country in the world.

But Selfridge advertising is judicious advertising!

It appears in the leading newspapers where circulation is guaranteed just as the circulations of the South China Morning Post and The Hongkong Telegraph are guaranteed—certified by Chartered Accountants.

FUTURE OF CIVIL LIBERTY

It is a pity that the Society for the promotion of Civil Rights in China should have fallen into hands which appear to be using it for other ends. We well understand the attraction of such a society for Dr. Hu Shih. He early in the regime of Chiang Kai-shek came out in strong opposition to the Nanking Government because of its abuse of its powers during the period of tutelage, and urged the speedy setting up of a constitutional government, to whose laws the members of the government, from the highest down, should be amenable. We do not know the internal history of the society, but we notice that Mrs. Sun Yat-sen is a prominent member, and that after a very terrible indictment of the treatment of prisoners in the military prisons in Peking—an indictment full of shuddering horrors—Dr. Hu Shih resigned his connexion. The suggestion is that the society is being used for the purposes of the more extreme party; and that the document in question was a forgery. In any case if Madame Sun is a loyal, if extreme, follower of the Founder of the Party, she is unlikely to be greatly interested in the specific questions of civil liberty. Dr. Sun in his Three Principles throws over the claims of the individual, and urges that if any conflict of opinion occurs between him and the Party the individual must submit. It was to this principle that Chiang Kai-shek with grim humour appealed when he arrested that orthodox representative of the Kuomintang, Mr. Hu Han-min, an arrest which has had such far-reaching and deplorable consequences. Moreover, Madame Sun is popularly supposed to be in close sympathy with the revolution. This does not necessarily mean that she is not interested in the question of civil liberty: but the fact remains that China took over from Russia the idea of party dictatorship, and its corollary that other parties are to be rigorously suppressed. It is however not only in China and Russia that civil liberty is threatened. Wherever the one-party dictatorship is in practice, in Italy, and now, in Germany, there is an end to civil liberty, and for amicable (or acrimonious) political discussion, the administration of castor oil, or a whipping, with occasional political murder, or judicial sentence to appalling terms of imprisonment, are substituted. After the growth and achievement of liberty and tolerance in the 19th century the world is threatened with what has always been the more customary rule of intolerance and persecution.

International Club

It has long been said that there is little or no public spirit in Hongkong; that we are too self-centred to bother ourselves about conditions and problems around us unless they affect us as individuals. This accusing finger has, perhaps, been levelled at us rather unfairly, and in recent years at least there has been an effort to promote and encourage social welfare. In this direction, it is pleasing to note the latest movement—the International Women's Club. Founded on similar institutions now successfully in operation in Colombo, Canton and other places in the East, the Hongkong Club was officially launched on Tuesday, signalling the last public appearance of Lady Southern prior to her departure on home leave. The objects of the Club are well known. It is organised primarily for the benefit of the working girls of the Colony and provides facilities for recreation, and relaxation from the cares and worries of the office. The movement deserves the fullest support.

WORLD CRISIS

OUR CONCERN IN THE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

BY FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

We are now on the verge of the Economic Conference. What is it all about? To the man who has not much concerned himself with the Science of Economics, the questions involved will be somewhat puzzling.

There is a general distinction, particularly in Hongkong and even by people (here and elsewhere) who are acutely affected by the present chaotic state, to attempt to understand the causes from which they are suffering. Perhaps there is plenty of excuse. The variety of aspects which are presented from time to time are somewhat disconnected.

In the space of this short Article, an attempt will be made to put, in some sort of sequence, the ideas behind the work of the Conference.

The findings and decisions of the Conference are every man's concern. They are important to all, whether they be Parson, Banker, Merchant, Tradesman, Railway Clerk or Public Servant. Upon success depends whether this generation is to have a present existence of reasonable occupation, and a fair measure of Physical Wealth, and a future of security; as opposed to the present order of things, anxiety and uncertainty.

FUNDAMENTAL CAUSES.

Undoubtedly, there is something radically wrong, and the work of the Conference is to find out the cause. Their task is not easy. When they put their finger on the cause, they have then the job of designing a perfect system for an imperfect people.

The causes are fundamental, and if we are to obtain a clear view of the position, we have therefore some fundamental thinking to do. It is useless considering the leaves and twigs of the question, we have to concern ourselves with the roots. Emerson remarked "When every man's chief concern is to watch that he does not cheat his neighbour, all will go well". Under circumstances of this nature, the major portion of the complicated accountancy, banking, and general economic procedure, as we know it to-day would fall away. But we have to meet facts as they are, and deal with a system which is based largely on the premise "That every man watches that his neighbour shall not cheat him." For this reason alone, we can expect the Conference to be slow in arriving at effective decisions, while some of the apparent facts, which will come before them, promise to call for such drastic changes in our economic system, that no Conference can be expected to swallow them at one gulp. However, if the facts are truly recognised, and our system partially altered, to be in sympathy with them, and the course is set in a positive and evolutionary direction, much will have been achieved.

THE MALADY.

What is the malady from which we are suffering, and which the Economic Conference will seek to cure? It is something serious.

It has been with us for the last dozen years, and is not improving, but getting worse. The symptoms are evident. Since the malady started, hundreds of reputable and long established industrial, commercial, and financial firms, have passed out of existence. Nations, like a common defaulter, have failed in their financial obligations. Men in responsible positions have been driven to dishonourable courses. Peers in gaudy financiers, industrialists, millionaires committing suicide to escape the heavy burdens of adversity. Millions of worthy men morally broken and without employment. The major portion of the world's populace living in a state of anxiety and uncertainty. The natural desire of Man for advancement and progress almost stifled. If we prepared a list of financial crashes, frauds, scandals, of first class magnitude, which have occurred in Britain, America, Germany, and France during the last few years it would be both voluminous and startling.

Is there justification for all this? Certainly not! Every natural sign loudly proclaims the converse. Plenty, Prosperity, and Progress. This order of things is absent, only because of some basic fault in our Economic System. There are two conditions only, expansion and contraction;—increasing trade or diminishing trade. Expansion is the only one which answers the natural Laws of evolution. A new World awaits us; one of abundant wealth, if we will accept it. Take off the shackles of the present system, give the technician freedom, and more and more will be available. Never in history have we had such control of physical wealth. Food, which at one time was our chief concern takes little more than 5% of our effort to-day. So plentiful are commodities at the present time, that in order to preserve our present money conditions, they have to be wantonly destroyed. Foodstuffs, raw materials, and machinery suffer thus, and are put out of cultivation, and productive plants scrapped, and all this at a time when human desires, and demands for physical wealth, are at a maximum. Unfortunately, all destruction seems to be to no purpose. There are strong indications that it cannot this time save the money system, though it may have done so in the past.

CHANGE OF IDEAS!

The technician has solved the question of prolific production to such an extent that the degree of shortage required to resuscitate the money system cannot be reached. Another way must be found. The fact is generally recognised, and it explains the urgency of the Economic Conference.

Why should we live in a state of depression? Physical wealth, and prosperity are there for all! It is only a mental attitude which obscures it. Existing circumstances eventually will compel us to change our ideas and standards. Exercise of intelligence to-day will avoid the ill-effects of fumbling out of our difficulties.

A popular cry is "We are short of money!" or "There is not money (Continued on Page 10.)"

The Very Idea!

ENDURANCE RECORDS

By Edward "Marathon" Kelly.

WE notice in an American newspaper that a competitor in a marathon gold fishing competition went mad after sitting over the bowl with his hook and sinker for 85 hours.

Other Marathon feats in America include long distance dancing, arm chair rocking, pole-sitting, and boy and girl h n d-holders.

Edward Kelly proposes to introduce some more variety into these Marathon Games so that they can be tried in Hongkong.

PUTTING aside such well-known feats of endurance as fox-trotting, tree-sitting, piano-playing, or shroff-dodging, we have to record a number of remarkable performances which should put Hongkong on the Marathon map.

PETE WATKINS, civil servant, aged 27, after 107½ hours trying to catch a flea in his bed, was taken to the Observation Ward by the police. He was in such a state of collapse that he drank a bottle of Johnny Walker before he recovered sufficiently to resume the search.

EDWARD KELLY, popular author of note, aged 48, held a telephone to his ear for 48 minutes 59 seconds, while his wife told him what she thought of him for staying at the club.

YEW PAY UP, A Chinese shroff, visited Edward Kelly every third day for twelve months without collecting a cent.

P.W.D. PARTMENT, well-known Hongkong trench expert, took four months, eleven days, twelve hours and twenty-five minutes to make all the roads in the Colony unrecognisable.

O.U.R. PUBLIC, has been up the tree for 68 days, wondering when the Water Authority really will cope with the water situation.

TERENCE TENCENTS, aged 33 years, stood for 87 days 11 hours in the Hongkong Hotel, waiting for a Scotch friend to shout.

Z.B.W. STATION, local radio expert, has shattered nearly every record by playing "Ain't It Grand To Be Bloomin' Well Dead" on almost every programme. The only record that hasn't been broken is "Ain't It Grand To Be Bloomin' Well Dead."

ROBERT MACWHIRTER, lawn bowls expert, at the Kowloon Bowling Green, told for the 1,189th time yesterday afternoon why he had placed the wrong bias on one ball.

IMA TAI PAN, Peak Resident, aged 65, told his Kowloon friend that it was nice and cool on the Peak so often that had the words been printed it would have still been hot in Kowloon.

REVENGE!

Why is it that tall men are punished simply because there are six or twelve inches more of them than there are of the rest of us? Is virtue like ribbon, that it should be measured with a yard-stick?

Small men are pugnacious and acquisitive by nature, and do not care what happens to others so long as they themselves are comfortable. Their wives tell them this regularly, but it makes no difference. The small man may have a big wife but he is seldom hen-pecked.

Why, too, are small men so much more cocksure and conceited than their tall brethren, who live under a perpetual cloud of inferiority complex?

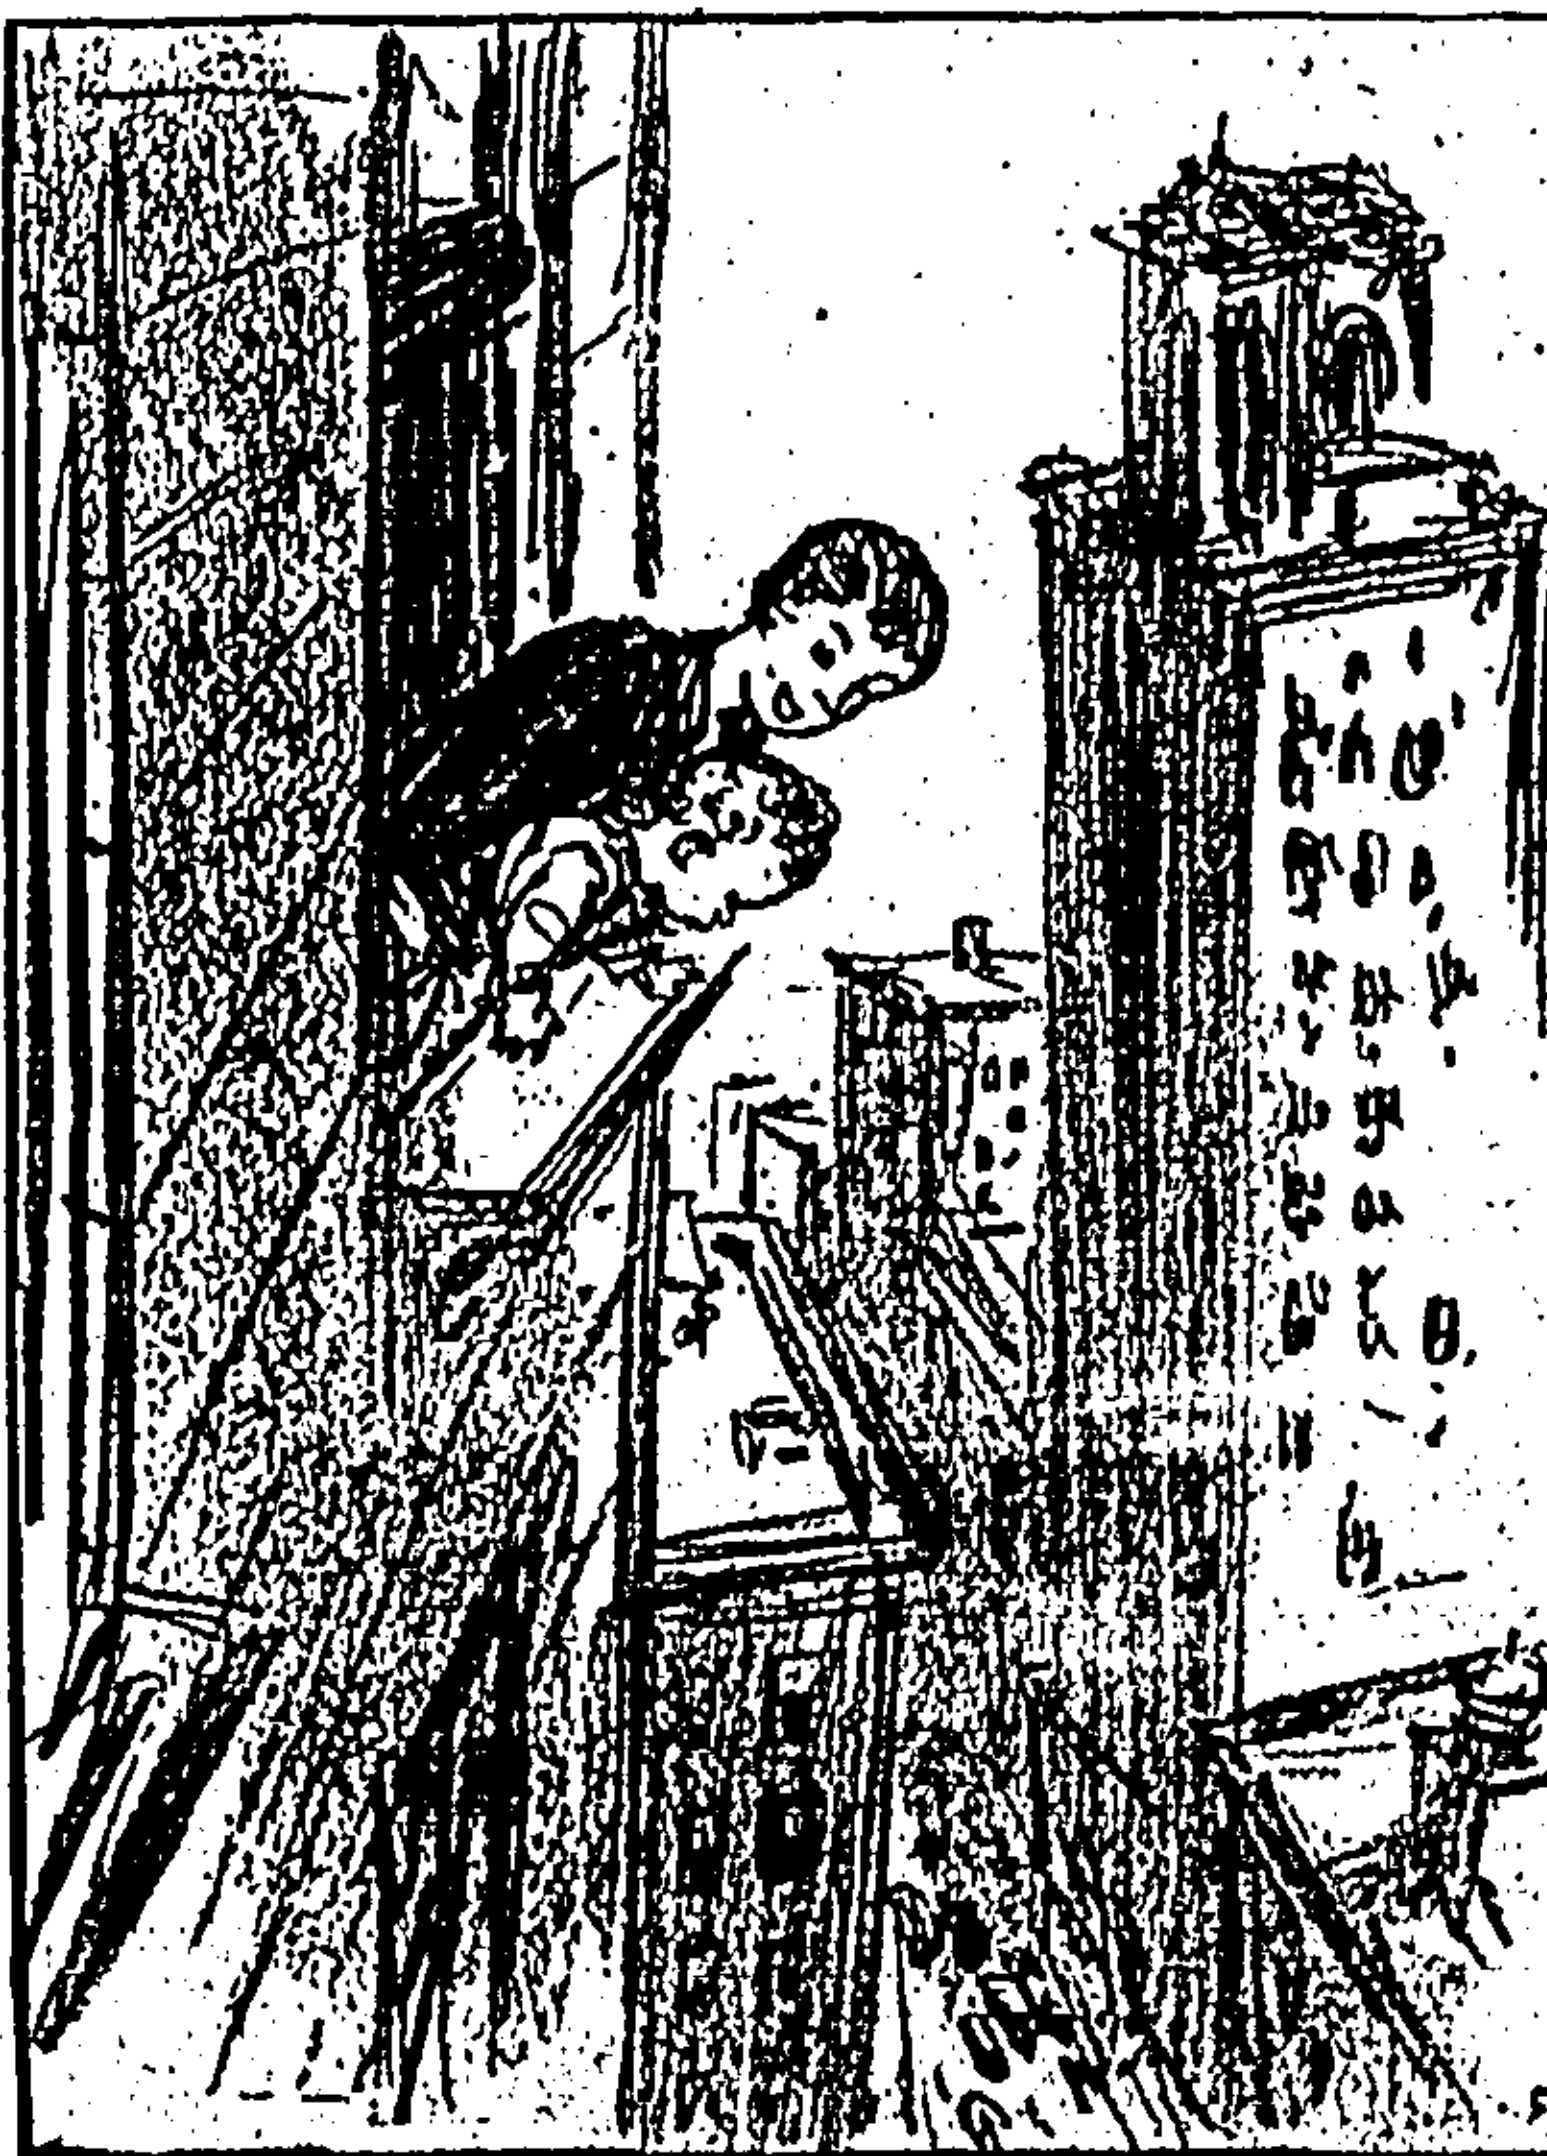

The tall men sometimes get their revenge by snatching the small men's sweethearts. Can you blame them?

THOSE RUBBER SHOES.

We see that the story of the rubber shoes at 2/- a dozen pairs has now been inflated upon Hongkong's "sweet-shops" competing with British goods in England.

These shoes have had a rather interesting career, starting out as Japanese-made shoes being sold in Jamaica, developing into German-made shoes dumped into Belgium, and until their arrival in Hongkong, passed through Holland, who were dumping them into France.

We have come to the conclusion that they are not rubber shoes at all, but lemons invented for suckers.

KOWLOON BUS MONOPOLY

KAI TACK VEHICLES TAKEN OVER

SLIGHT INCREASE IN SEASON TICKETS

Plans are well set for the taking over by the Kowloon Motor Bus Co. (1933) Ltd., of the bus routes on the mainland by June 11, the ultimate date fixed in their franchise.

A start has already been made, and yesterday the Kai Tack Bus Co., ceased to be, as their fleet of buses was taken over by the Kowloon Bus Co., and the operation of their three routes, Nos. 3, 4 and 5, continued by the new Company without any change that was apparent to passengers.

To-morrow, the buses belonging to the China Motor Bus Company, which has moved over to the Island, will be similarly taken over by the Kowloon Bus Co., and it is hoped that by Saturday, arrangements will have been completed when unified control of all routes becomes an accomplished fact.

110 VEHICLES.

In all, the Kowloon Bus Co. will be in possession of a fleet of 110 vehicles, including those they have been operating.

It is learned that while ordinary stage fares will remain as they are, a slight increase from $9 to $10 will be made on monthly tickets, in return for which ticket holders will have the advantage of using all the bus routes in Kowloon Proper without extra charges. This facility, of course, is not extended to the buses running to or in the New Territories.

Schoolchildren's monthly tickets will remain at their present price of $4.

Monthly tickets for June have been issued by and in the name of the former Companies, and holders are now requested to exchange these for new ones issued by the Kowloon Bus Co., without any charge, as from June 11 and certainly not later than June 15, at the Company's offices at Nathan Road, Mongkok.

It may be possible at a later date to issue tickets from an office at the Kowloon Star Ferry.

DOGS DISTURB RESIDENTS

ANIMALS ALLEGEDLY BEATEN

At the instances of Messrs. S. Shields and J. M. Sunley, of No. 2 Torres Building, Mr. A.D.M. Eca, of the same building, was summoned before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for keeping dogs on his premises to the annoyance of the neighbours.

It was revealed that Mr. Eca had no fewer than 12 dogs on his premises. Messrs. Shields and Sunley alleged that defendant kept a small Chinese boy to look after the dogs and this lad was in the habit of beating them with a cane at all hours of the night. On May 13, Messrs. Shields and Sunley arrived home at about 1.15 a.m. and were prevented from sleeping on account of the noise made by the dogs. They called in a policeman.

Defendant explained that since then he had got rid of eight of the dogs. He undertook that proper care would be taken of the remaining four.

His Worship.—Has the noise been just as bad lately?

Mr. Shields.—No, not for the last two weeks.

A fine of $5 was imposed.

THE "SCEPTRE"

MOTH COLLECTED WHO DRESSED IN WHITE

Muenne.—Mysterious night lights whisking through the woods and a white-veiled apparition with outstretched arms caused such terror in the village of Boeckelbruck, Upper Austria, that a police force set out to catch "it". The ghostly figure was a harmless collector of moths who clothed himself in white and carried a lamp in order to attract the insects.—Reuter.

IL DUCE'S SPEECH IN SENATE

FAITHFUL TO SPIRIT OF ORIGINAL DRAFT

ROME, JUNE 7.

GERMANY TO-NIGHT NOTIFIED HER ACCEPTANCE OF THE FINAL DRAFT OF THE FOUR-POWER PACT, ENABLING THE INITIALLING OF THE HISTORIC DOCUMENT BY THE REPRESENTATIVES OF BRITAIN, FRANCE, GERMANY AND ITALY AT 7.30 P.M.

Although changes have been made in the text of the Pact, it remains faithful to the spirit of the original draft, declared Signor Mussolini, speaking to the Senate.

The galleries of the Senate were crowded with members of the Diplomatic Corps, who came to hear Signor Mussolini pronounce his blessing on the Pact.

OFFICIAL VERSION OF PACT

The Italian Premier laid emphasis on the fact that the Pact is not directed against any Power or against any group of Powers. It does not, he said, constitute a united front, but it recognises the need in Europe for a strong authority. If nothing of this kind had been attempted, Europe would be exposed to grave dangers.

The Pact was not an end in itself, but if Europe's four leading Powers collaborated, all points of controversy between the governments of Europe would be greatly simplified.

DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME.

The final draft embraces, largely, the French counter-plan, which itself embodies the main features of Signor Mussolini's proposals. The Italian Premier admitted during his speech before the Senate to-night that the difficulties experienced in reaching a satisfactory basis, difficulties which had now been overcome, mainly centred upon Article Three of the Pact, dealing with disarmament.

OFFICIAL TEXT.

The official text of the Pact, issued after the document had been initialled, shows that it adheres closely to the semi-official version published yesterday.

The preamble expresses the conviction of the signatories that the disquiet throughout the world can only be dissipated by reinforcing their solidarity, so as to strengthen confidence in the peace of Europe.

CO-OPERATION.

Under Article One, the signatories undertake to make every effort to pursue, within the framework of the League of Nations, effective co-operation between all the Powers with a view to the maintenance of peace.

Substantially, Articles Two, Three and Four are as published yesterday, providing for exchanges of views with the object of applying the provisions of the League Covenant, especially Articles Ten, Sixteen and Nineteen, for consultations in the event of a breakdown of the Disarmament Conference, and for discussions on economic problems of common interest.

TEN YEARS.

Article Five provides that the Pact shall last for ten years, but if no Power has given notice of termination before the end of the eighth year, the Pact will remain in force indefinitely, each Party then having the right to terminate it by giving two years' notice.

The Pact will come into force as soon as the ratifications have been deposited in Rome.—Reuter.

YOUTH ROBS HIS BENEFACTORS

"A PARTICULARLY MEAN THEFT"

Remarking that it was a particularly mean theft, Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, imposed four months' hard labour on a student, Tam-Ying-kong, (18 years) who admitted two charges of stealing a $100 bill from Kathleen Tam and a gold bracelet from Lucy Lee, both residing on the 3rd floor of No. 33, Sau Wah Fong Street, Wanchai.

Acting Sub-Inspector Nollath said that defendant was a relative of complainants, living with them at the same address. On Sunday morning when complainants awoke, they noticed the cash box which was usually left on the bed, had been opened and a $100 bill taken, as well as a pair of gold bangles. The defendant had absconded. A report was made to the police. On Sunday afternoon a friend of the complainants saw the defendant on board the s.s. Tainan, and asked him where he was going. Defendant said he was going to Shanghai. He was arrested, and in his possession were found two bags containing several articles of clothing, two rugs, $22 in Canton money, a silver watch, and other small articles, which he had bought with the $100 and the proceeds of the sale of the bracelet, which he had melted down in Canton and for which he obtained $60.

Defendant said that he wanted to go to Shanghai to become a

LOCAL SINGER IN COURT

MR. LI CHOR-CHI'S DOG WITHOUT MUZZLE

Mr. Li Chor-eh, the local tenor, 37 Kai Tack Road, was summoned before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for allowing his dog in the public street without a muzzle on May 19.

Pleading guilty to the charge, Mr. Li said the dog escaped from the house while a man delivered ice. The servants immediately gave chase, but by the time they caught the dog, a policeman had already noted the fact that it had no muzzle.

A fine of $5 was imposed. Mr. McLean, of No. 213 Prince Edward Road, was fined $5 for not taking out a licence for his black and brown mongrel and $8 for allowing it out in the street without a muzzle.

The gold bracelets were particularly valued by the complainant, as they had been left to her by a great grandmother. It was a very mean theft, as the defendant was staying with the complainants free of charge. He had taken the key of the cash box from a chest of drawers. Complainants said that if the defendant wanted to go to Shanghai they would have assisted him. The stuff which the defendant had in his possession was all now, but the complainants would not be able to get the value if they sold it. The defendant's father was living, but would have nothing to do with him.

DISARMAMENT PARLEY OBSTACLES

Geneva, June 7.

The Disarmament Conference is again faced with the prospect of a breakdown by reason of irreconcilable differences.

Difficulties which have cropped up on practically every important issue, including Security, the definition of an aggressor State, naval and aerial disarmament, have again plunged the gathering into the doldrums.

As a result of the critical situation, the Bureau of the Conference and the Executive Committee have decided to adjourn the Conference until June 27.

MR. HENDERSON'S EFFORTS.

In the meantime, Mr. Arthur Henderson, the President, is proceeding to London this weekend to negotiate with the various delegations (who will be in London in connexion with the Economic Conference) in an endeavour to smooth out the difficulties which are holding up Lord Londonderry, progress with the Draft Convention.

Hopes meanwhile are also centred upon the talks which are being initiated in Paris to-morrow between M. Daladier, the French Premier, Mr. Norman Davis, Lord Londonderry, the British Air Minister and Captain Eden.

These conversations have as their objective the finding of some basis of understanding on the main difficulties.—Reuter.

FRENCH AMENDMENTS.

The General commission of the Disarmament Conference considered the French amendments on the questions of the limitation and the supervision of the manufacture of arms, which were criticised by Germany, and the Italian and British delegates, who reserved the attitude of their Governments.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Chairman, Mr. Arthur Henderson to negotiate with the delegates chiefly interested.—British Wireless.

DELIVERING OR SELLING?

ALLEGED HAWKER AND HIS BROOMS

"I was ordered by the Wah Yan College authorities to deliver said a young Chinese in Court brooms once every forty days" said a young Chinese in Court this morning, when he was charged with hawking brooms without a licence.

An Indian Sergeant said defendant made a sale outside 2, Robinson Road, yesterday afternoon.

Sub-Inspector Smith said the Police made enquiries and no one would say whether the defendant was selling or delivering brooms. "He had four brooms and I surmise that he was hawking" he added. "He was not delivering them at the College at the time".

Mr. Balfour (Magistrate) remanded the case to to-morrow for further investigation.

TORTOISESHELL CLOCKS MADE FROM MILK

PLASTIC MATERIALS EXHIBITION

London. Tortoiseshell clocks made from milk are among the objects exhibited by the Plastic Material Exhibition in London.

Other "unbelievable" inventions are:

Crockery made of disinfectants.

"Woodwork" made of high explosives and mph balls.

Wheels made of cotton, and False teeth made of wood pulp.

Geny wheels for buses, by this process, are manufactured from cotton instead of metal. Linoleum can be made from the same material in six hours, instead of the usual six weeks.

Boats, especially racing hulls, can be made of this material which is said to be lighter, and cheaper than wood.

It is now possible to erect a house with rubber floors, roof, wall panels, windowframes, and tiles, according to Mr. E.D. Porritt, director of the Research Association of British rubber manufacturers, who recently described new uses of rubber.—Reuter.

ASTONISHING DEFEAT OF I.R.C.

FIRST DIV. TENNIS SHOCK

K.C.C. PLAYED TO STANDSTILL

DISMAL SHOW AGAINST THE C.R.C.

Recreio Make A Good Start to Season

(By "Veritas")

There was enough incident and a sufficient number of unexpected results in the "A" Division league tennis programme yesterday to keep tongues wagging in the club houses for the next few days.

Firstly—Defeat of the Indian Recreation Club by the South China Athletic first string.
Secondly—Defeat of Craigengower, augmented by Tam Yoc-fong and Tsui Yui-pui, at the Club de Recreio.
Thirdly—Big victory of the Chinese Recreation Club "A" at the expense of the Kowloon Cricket Club on the latter's courts.

"Sensational" can fairly be applied to the defeat of the Indians. Admittedly they were without the services of I.M.A. Razack, which meant a re-shuffling of the team, with the famous Rumjahn cousins combination broken up; even so the last thing expected was the thing which happened.

TWO CONCLUSIONS.

Two conclusions can be drawn from the result, so far as the I.R.C. are concerned. Certainly the Rumjahn partnership should never have been broken. It was good enough for three sets, and Bux would probably have performed no worse with Cassumbhoi than with H. D. The match seemed to suggest that A. R. Minu-A. H. Rumjahn combination was not quite so desirable as the trials indicated. Minu last year played with Frank Pereira and whilst acknowledging this was in the "B" Division it is on the cards that their experience together would have stood them in better stead yesterday.

But these things apart, it is to the credit of South China that they lowered the colours of the potential champions.

TSUI'S DEBUT.

The champions boasted a definitely superior all-round balance and with Tsui Wai-pui proving an excellent successor to Yew Man-kit, their success was discernible after the first round.

It was asking a big thing of Green and Hambly to jump straight into first grade tennis against such a strong side and they not unexpectedly failed to win a set.

They held their own against W. C. Hung and Lu Tak-cheuk taking the set to ten games, but they could do little against the forceful attack of Ho Ka-lau and Tsui and the steady and reliable team work of the Lo brothers.

Guest and Hyde were the biggest disappointments. They approached nowhere near their true form and seemed overawed by the occasion. They nearly snatched a set from the Lo's but throughout the afternoon came off second best in the long rallies.

Although doing most of the attacking against Ho and Tsui the uncanny retrieving powers of Ho, who returned smash after smash with wonderful lobs, shook their confidence and blunders followed.

TRAGIC EXPERIENCE.

The Finchers, after halving their first set with the Lo's had rather a tragic experience against Ho and Tsui.

With the games at two-all and Teddy Fincher serving, Ernest made three awful blunders at the net to throw away the fifth game. It was the turning point. Ho Ka-lau increased the lead on his own service, and although Ernest Fincher captured his, the end was in sight.

Tsui Wai-pui won the eighth game on service and further errors on the part of the Finchers saw Teddy lose his second service of the set.

The Finchers should have won this set. They were playing much the better tennis up to the fifth game, but when they allowed errors to creep in it was all over bar the shouting.

W. C. Hung, who displaced Ng Sze-kwong, fulfilled all expectations with Lu Tak-cheuk by winning two sets. The pair lost to the Finchers though only after a bitter struggle, and gained fairly easy successes against the other K.C.C. pairs.

IMPRESSIONS.

Impressions left by the match were that the C.R.C. will have little cause to worry this summer and that there will certainly be no necessity for team changes.

On the other hand the K.C.C. can probably experiment in this direction with beneficial results. Unfortunately the Peninsula club are still suffering from a dearth of first grade players outside of the Finchers, Guest and Hyde.

The failure of the strengthened Craigengower side against the Recreio came as something of a surprise. None of the pairs did themselves justice. Leonard and Hachima lost two sets as did Tam Yoc-fong and Tsui Yui-pui.

George Lai and Robert Choa held their own better than anybody else, taking two sets to a draw of 6-all.

ACTION

PROGRAMME

The shower of rain early this morning had no adverse effect on the court at the Hongkong Cricket Club and it will be in good trim for this afternoon's exhibition matches between Gavia and Polintan, the Filipino tennis exponents and local players.

An attractive programme has been arranged, the Association having invited the Rumjahn cousins, reigning champions, and Tsui Wai-pui, C.R.C. singles champion, to oppose the visitors.

The games will start punctually at 4.45, the first match on the card being a two sets' singles between S. A. Rumjahn (Hongkong singles champion) and Leonardo Gavia (Philippines National singles champion).

SUNDAY'S GAMES.

On Sunday the visitors will give further exhibitions at the K.C.C. with club members, E. C. Fincher, A. E. P. Guest and L. Goldman will probably form the opposition and a similar programme to that of today will be carried out. The games will start at 4 p.m.

Efforts are also being made by Mr. L. R. Ildefonso who is responsible for the entertainment of the visitors, to play at the C.R.C. and an announcement in regard to this will be made shortly.

Golf Bad Game for Team Spirit

WHAT A DOCTOR TOLD OXFORD

London.
Golf is a selfish game—according to Dr. A. P. Cawdrias.
He told the conference on New Ideals in Education at Oxford that: "Rugby in my opinion is the best game to develop the team spirit, and I think golf is the worst."

Dr. Cawdrias went on to say that golf was very good for the middle-aged who wanted to retain something of their flexibility of movement, and to learn to keep their tempers. "But," he declared, "it is really a selfish game, and I do not think we should let young people develop with it."

HOCKEY MEETING.

Formation Of Association To Be Discussed.

A meeting has been called for Thursday, June 22, for the purpose of discussing the formation of an Association in Hongkong to take complete control of all hockey activities in the Colony.

The convenor is Mr. J. E. Potter and the meeting will be held at Volunteer Headquarters, commencing at 5.45 p.m. Local hockey clubs and teams have been circularised to send representatives.

The Club Lusitano $2 cash sweep for the first race last Saturday was won by Mr. J. Banto, a member of the Club, who collected $3,690.18. The second prize of $1,419.30 was won by a syndicate of Portuguese clerks. Only two ponies started in the race.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
STRONG

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was strong yesterday. Business done: 6,640,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal reports:—Leading stocks were steady to firm. Other sections rose to new 1933 highs. There was tremendous activity due to the flood of bullish news, including "Ironage" report that the steel industry was operating 44% of capacity and the fact that the major rubber companies raised the price of tires as much as 9 per cent. and tubes 16 per cent. The petition of the Rock Island Railway to the Chicago Federal Court under the new railroad reorganization act as a preliminary step toward readjustment of its capital structure caused a flurry of irregularity in rail stocks.

"Ironage" Magazine reports:—Steel Production was 44% of capacity, causing expectation in some quarters that June bookings will surpass May. Many assemblers in the motorcar industry were the largest since July 1931, also in some instances retail sales outlasted the output, hence the seasonal drop of production in June is no longer a certainty.

STOP! PAIN!
Remove corns
this safe, gentle way

1. Soak foot 10 minutes in hot water, wipe dry. 2. Apply Blue Jay, centering pad directly over corn. How it works: A is the mild medicine that gently undermines corn. It is felt that it relieves pressure, stops pain at once. C holds pad in place, prevents slipping. E. A few days, remove plaster, soak foot, lift out corn. Used by millions. At all chemists.

GERMAN ATLANTIC
ATTEMPT

Berlin, June 1.
A squadron of from four to six German aeroplanes of a newly developed amphibian type will attempt a flight across the southern Atlantic next year under the command of Captain Hermann Koehl of trans-Atlantic fame. Captain Koehl is leaving on Saturday for South-America on board the airship Graf Zeppelin to acquaint himself with meteorological conditions on the southern route. Before his departure for Friedrichshafen to-day he said that the new aeroplanes will be put to a severe test this autumn and that the final decision regarding the proposed flight will largely depend on the results of these trials.

enough with which to buy!"
Plenty of Money is available. We can have as much money in the world as we say we require, no more, and no less. It is up to the world to say what it wants.
These may sound extravagant statements. Let us examine their truth. In order to do so, we will adjust our focus by a run through the principles behind our Money System, and the subject of Physical Wealth.

(This is the first of a series of articles on the World Crisis and the remedies, by a local student of world economics. To-morrow's article, continuing the introductory story, will deal with the meaning of Money.)

Key giggled. Mark was irresistibly funny. "Allie says she thinks he's an artist or a writer," she went on.
"Eustace?" Mrs. O'Dare mused.
"One of the Waterman girls married a man named Eustace, a New Yorker, when I was just a child. This must be her son."

Monnie scarcely heard them. Kay's "crushes" were many and various.
The newcomer, whoever he might be,
was sure to be right if Mark sponsored him. Mark would know if he were bogus. But what did all this matter—where was Dan? Her head began to ache, and there was a nervous throbbing back of her eyes.
"We'll do the dishes, Mother," she said. "Kay and I. You go and lie down."

Mrs. O'Dare pushed her gently aside. "Nonsense, when you've changed your dress and freshened up."

Monnie set her jaw. "I'm going to wash dishes tonight. Nothing shall stop me."

She put a big checked apron on over the faded linen. She took the dishpan from its nail, filled it with warm soapy water. With vigour she sloshed the cups and saucers in and out, finding in the homely task some succor from her pain. She could be useful, anyway, even if Dan didn't want her.

Lost in a daydream, she went through her work. She would work hard, she would earn enough to take them all away from Belvedere. Years later, busy, successful and happy, she would return. She would see an old, tired-looking man on Main street.
Someone would say, "There's Monica O'Dare, the famous author, actress, singer!" The man would look up, his grim features working with emotion. He would mutter, "My Monnie.
And I lost her, fool that I was." It would be Dan, tired, broken, disappointed.

She sluiced the drainboard with fresh water, wrung out her cloth with an expert motion. Kay had finished the last of the silver, had flitted upstairs. Though the half open door, Monnie could see her mother, dozing over the evening paper in the bay window. Evening had settled down over the little town. The yard looked melancholy, the lilacs sent their fragrance through the dusk.

As the girl turned to put out the light, she heard a firm step on the side porch. Her first thought was that it was Bill, returning early. She went to the screen door.
Amber eyes stared up at the man who stood without.
"I rang at the front several times," he said quietly. "I guess no one heard."

Monnie managed to control the tremor in her voice as she answered him. "Come in, Dan," she said softly.
He was back, and he hadn't forgotten her!

Does the bristle head of your toothbrush fit fair and square into that arch? No?
Then it can't fit fair and square into the arch of your teeth either. But Tek can do it. Tek fits its full face into every curve of the arch—upper and lower. Relieved of the usual load of useless bristles, Tek's short head reaches everywhere, cleans everywhere. In its rapid passes Tek gives the gums a mild massage—gentle to begin with, until they become firm and strong and of a healthy colour. But only Tek can do it because of its shape and size. Got used to Tek and you'll use no other.
Tek brushes are sold surgically clean in a sealed carton. See that the carton is unbroken. Six colours. Hard or medium, also extra hard (unbleached).

INDEPENDENCE OF THE PHILIPPINES

LITTLE HOPE OF COMPROMISE

That the acceptance or rejection of the Hawes-Cutting Bill for the independence of the Philippine Islands will provide a big political battle was made evident this morning, when leaders of the opposing groups in the Philippines Mission, at present in Hongkong, were interviewed.

The Hon. Sergio Osmeña, President Pro Tempore of the Philippine Senate, and leader of the Acceptance group is unqualifiedly in favour of the Bill.

"We have had to fight incessantly to get this Bill through the United States Legislature," he said, "and I honestly believe that it is the best offer that Congress can make to us."

"There have been so many conflicting views and interests that the task of those who have slaved in sponsoring its passage were rendered almost insurmountable. In the end they succeeded with a feeling that the Bill as it stands to-day would settle satisfactorily the Philippines question from the point of view of both the United States and the Philippines."

YEARS OF NEGOTIATIONS.

"The acceptance or rejection of the Bill now rests with the Filipino people. But if this Bill is rejected negotiations which have been carried on for the past 34 years will have to commence all over again, and the ground gained in that time will have been lost."

"Certain portions of the Bill may need to be clarified, and for this purpose informal discussions have been carried on in Hongkong."

A more formal Conference will be held aboard the Empress of Japan, whilst we are en route to Manila. I do not anticipate that any agreement will be reached in Hongkong, but I still have hopes that some compromise will be effected before we reach Manila. Some concrete basis should be arrived at before we face the Legislature."

MANILA POLITICS.

"I do not know how this question will affect the local politics in the Philippines. We have been in the United States so long that we have got out of touch with politics there. Our one ambition whilst in America was to get this legislation through."

"We who visited the United States for the purpose of assisting the passage of this Bill represent all shades of political opinion, but we were absolutely together in trying to get this legislation through. We have succeeded in our objective. The matter now lies with the people."

MR. QUEZON ADAMANT.

The Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippines Senate, Chairman of the Nacionalista (Government) Party, and leader of the Anti-Acceptance of the faction, showed open hostility to the Bill when interviewed.

"My opinion is unchanged and hardly needs reiteration," he said to the Telegraph representative.

"The Hawes-Cutting Bill, in its present form, is, and always will be, unacceptable to me. My opinion now is the opinion I have held all along, and no discussion with the party in favour of acceptance can alter it unless vital amendments are made. 'If, of course, the features to which I take objection are eliminated from the Bill, I would favour acceptance. The Bill is so complicated that I would not care to make a detailed statement of these objectionable features, but the main objection, in my opinion, are those provisions regarding military and other reservations after independence has been granted, which would be a curtailment of the Independence of the Philippine Islands."

NO HOPE OF AGREEMENT.

"Informal discussions have been carried out for the past six weeks without any hope of agreement or the points at issue, and you can say that the position on arrival at Manila will be the same as it is now. I see no reason to believe that any discussions which may take place aboard the Empress of Japan whilst en route to Manila should change my present opinions."

"Final action will be taken by the Philippine Legislature, and I am not prepared to say now what my recommendations will be. Much less am I in a position to say that the final action of the Legislature will be."

"I cannot discuss the report I intend making to the Legislature."

GAMBLING MONOPOLY PROJECT ECHO

Claim for Return of Capital

Echoes of a project to obtain a gambling monopoly at Annam four years ago, involving a capital of $1,200,000, were heard in an action commenced before the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, at the Supreme Court this morning.

The plaintiff, Tam Chik-nam, merchant, of 20A Connaught Road West, Victoria, claims $4,978.62 and a further sum stated to be interest, from the defendant, Ip Lam-chuen, o/o The Kwong Man Loong Fire Cracker Manufacturing Co., Ltd., of 102, Des Vaux Road, Canton, Victoria.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, instructed by Mr. Evans, of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes, and Masters, represented the plaintiff, and Mr. H. C. Macnamara, instructed by Messrs. Lo and Lo, appeared for defendant.

Plaintiff claims that $4,600 of the amount for which he is suing, is the balance of $11,000 paid to defendant in March, 1929, for shares in a company which was to be formed in Annam and was to be called The Cheung Fat Company. The Company had not been formed and the shares had not been allotted to plaintiff. The sum of $473.62 arose from interest verbally agreed upon until the allotment of the shares or the repayment of the main sum. The plaintiff further claims interest on the $4,600 from October 12, 1932, to the date of judgment. The case is proceeding.

SLOGAN OF NAZI MOVEMENT

Berlin.

"Woman's place is in the home" is one of the slogans of the Nazi movement in Germany. The modern bachelor girl, working along with men in business and professional circles, is to receive no encouragement from Hitler. This standpoint was made clear by Dr. Goebbels, the new Minister of Propaganda.

"Woman's place," he said, "is in the family, her proper task is to provide her country and her people with children. It will be the Government's duty so to revolutionize the status of woman that she can once again fulfil her most important national functions. 'The liberation of woman is a danger to the State. She must leave to man the things that belong to man.'—Reuter."

TEA MOST POPULAR MEAL

In House of Commons

London.

Tea was the most popular meal at the House of Commons last year. More than 89,943 teas were served on the 144 days on which the House sat, as compared with 111,667 in 1931, when the House sat on 175 days.

Not a single breakfast was served last year, showing the absence of all-night sittings, which in 1931 involved the serving of 170 breakfasts. These facts are embodied in the recently published report of the Select Committee appointed to control the kitchen and refreshment rooms of the House of Commons.

The receipts for last year were £30,971, as compared with £27,045 for the previous year.—Reuter.

Thieves have stolen from Messrs. A. Vannin's show-rooms at North Point 35 pieces of polished stones, valued at $245.

REFERENDUM?

Under the Constitution of the Philippines Island, acceptance or rejection of the Hawes-Cutting Bill may be decided either by the Legislature or by a Referendum of the people.

In view of the widely divergent views held by the members of the Nacionalista Party, it is thought likely that the Bill will be put to the popular vote of the people, although it is known that a certain section is in favour of legislative action.

CLAIM FOR RESTORATION OF BONHAM STRAND PROPERTY

CHIEF JUSTICE ON PLAINTIFF'S KNOWLEDGE OF EVENTS

JUDGMENT ON THE FACTS

Giving judgment in the recent Bonham Strand West property case, at the Supreme Court this morning, the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, found evidence that plaintiff had contemporaneous knowledge of the disappearance of the deeds and of the alleged fraudulent assignment of the property from her late husband to her adopted son by impersonation. He gave judgment for the defendant Pong Tsai-ching on the issue of fact, plaintiff to pay defendant's costs of the action.

The case was one in which Li Tse-shi, administratrix with the will annexed to the estate of her late husband, Li Woon-nam, of Tsai Shan, sought to recover 73 Bonham Strand, from Pong Tsai-ching, of Shatin, it being alleged that the property assignment was a forgery perpetrated by plaintiff's adopted son, Li Kai-loi.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon and Mr. Leo D'Almeida Castro, Jur., (instructed by Messrs. Lo and Lo) appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., instructed by Messrs. Hastings and Co., for defendant.

HISTORY OF THE CASE.

His Lordship said:—The plaintiff, Li Tse-shi, is a widow aged 61 years, resident in Tsai Shan village in the Province of Kwangtung, China. Her late husband Li Woon-nam died in Tsai Shan on or about 19th April, 1925. Presumably because they were without a son Li Woon-nam and his wife adopted many years ago, a son named after adoption, Li Kai-loi. This adoption was not of a blood relation but was made by purchase from outside the family. During his lifetime Li Woon-nam, as also did his adopted son, spent some time in America and acquired there some wealth. Both father and son possessed passports. Li Woon-nam returned to this Colony from America in 1924. He was introduced by a relative to Ng Yu-hon who became thereupon a trusted friend of Li Woon-nam and of his family. Ng Yu-hon was at that time the owner of premises 73 Bonham Strand West. The premises were occupied by the Lung Shing firm in which firm Ng Yu-hon was a partner. Li Woon-nam was seeking an investment for his money. By an assignment dated 11th October, 1924, Ng Yu-hon sold the premises to Li Woon-nam. Li Yu-hon (for the Lung Shing firm) then became the tenant of the premises. The title deeds held by Li Woon-nam were two in number, namely, the earlier assignment to Ng Yu-hon and the assignment by Ng Yu-hon to Li Woon-nam already mentioned. Li Woon-nam returned to Tsai Shan with these two title deeds. The rent (subject to appropriate deductions) was remitted to him in Tsai Shan by Ng Yu-hon who was both his tenant and his agent to collect rent.

PAPERS KEPT IN BOX.

Li Woon-nam kept his papers in an American trunk, locked by a padlock, for which he kept two keys, duplicate keys. In addition to the two title deeds of the premises in Hongkong he had also Chinese deeds of title for property in China. In the same box also were deposited the two passports—his own and his son's; and two "chops" each bearing his name, one of which was used by him in connection with his Hongkong affairs and the other in connection with his affairs in China. At Tsai Shan Li Woon-nam lived in his family house with his wife, his son and his son's family. At the present time his son has five children who are still living with their grandmother the plaintiff. On the 13th April, 1925, Li Woon-nam, in anticipation of his death, made a Chinese will. He thereby bequeathed all his property to his wife "to administer and control and enjoy all privileges thereof" with power to "deal with these properties herself" without interference. Before his death which occurred on or about 19th April, 1925, he handed to his wife all the title deeds, documents and things deposited in the American trunk and with five keys including both keys of the trunk padlock. The widow, the plaintiff, thereafter administered the property. Ng Yu-hon accounted to her for the rent of the premises in Hongkong—remitting to her in the country.

TENANCY SURRENDERED.

In January, 1929, Ng Yu-hon at the end of the Chinese year surrendered his tenancy in accordance with one of the terms of the lease. Ng Yu-hon, as agent for the plaintiff, secured a new tenant so that there might be no break in the occupation of the premises. He also continued to collect the rent and to remit it to the plaintiff. Rent was remitted every month by Ng Yu-hon throughout the period of his agency. In correspondence with Ng Yu-hon about these premises the plaintiff used the "chop" for Hongkong affairs, bearing her husband's name which her husband had left to her. No representation either in Hongkong or in China was taken out to her husband's estate. By all parties concerned action was taken as though no change in ownership had resulted from the death of Li Woon-nam.

ASSIGNMENT EXECUTED.

On a day, a few days before the 24th March, 1930, the two title deeds of these premises were produced in Hongkong to Hung Kam-hing, a solicitor, in the firm of Messrs. Deacons, by some person unknown. This person was introduced to Hung Kam-hing by Li Kai-loi, who himself had been introduced to Hung Kam-hing by Ng Yu-hon. Li Kai-loi purported to purchase the said premises from Li Woon-nam. On the instructions of both vendor and purchaser Hung Kam-hing prepared an assignment by Li Woon-nam to Li Kai-loi which on the 24th March, 1930, was executed and was later registered in the Land Office. On the 7th April, 1930, Hung Kam-hing returned the two earlier deeds to the new assignment to Li Kai-loi.

The plaintiff has informed the Court that the only proper custody of these deeds was in herself, that she kept them under lock and key in her trunk, that she put them in that place when she first received them from her husband before his death, that she habitually wore the keys of the box on her person, that she had not missed the deeds in March 1930 and that in fact, she did not see the deeds from the date on which she received them until July, 1931.

DECLARATION SWORN.

The location of these deeds of title between the 7th April, 1930, and a date in April, 1931, remains undisclosed by evidence. On or before the 13th April, 1931, Li Kai-loi came again to Hung Kam-hing. He stated then that he had lost the deeds. On the 13th April, 1931, he executed two documents prepared on his instructions by Hung Kam-hing, firstly a Statutory Declaration setting out the circumstances in which he alleged the deeds to have been lost and secondly a power of attorney to his cousin Li Hip-loi. Li Hip-loi is the son of Li Cheuk-nam who is an elder brother of Li Woon-nam and resides in Hongkong. Li Kai-loi asked Hung Kam-hing to find a mortgage for the property, but in the absence of the title deeds Hung Kam-hing refused to do this unless with a guarantee. Incidentally Hung Kam-hing asked Ng Yu-hon, speaking on the telephone, to guarantee a mortgage by Li Kai-loi, which Ng Yu-hon declined to do.

THE MORTGAGES.

Later in the same month Li Hip-loi produced the statutory declaration and the power of attorney to Messrs. Wilkinson & Grist, Solicitors. He instructed them to prepare a mortgage of the premises and introduced an intending mortgagee, Yan Fui. This mortgage was executed on the 20th April, 1931, and was registered in the Land Office.

Further, a second mortgage was executed on the 1st May, 1931, with which the present proceedings are not concerned.

The interest on the first mortgage was not paid on due date. The mortgagee instructed Messrs. Wilkinson & Grist to exercise the power of sale under the mortgage. The premises were advertised to be sold by the mortgagee at an auction to be held on the 23rd July, 1931, at 3 p.m.

Up to date Ng Yu-loi had collected the rent without interruption and had remitted it to the plaintiff.

PROMPT ACTION TAKEN.

On this date the plaintiff was away from home with a sick grandchild in Canton, arranging for medical treatment. Ng Yu-loi came down from Canton to Hongkong by the morning train, arriving after 12 noon. He was at once informed of the advertised sale and took prompt action on behalf of his principal, the plaintiff.

He called upon Maurice Murray Watson, a solicitor, in the firm of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes, and Masters; asked him to stop the sale if possible; paid him $3,000.00 in cash so that he might have money to meet sums accrued due under the mortgage; and arranged for the production of the title deeds at the auction room. The three deeds of title including the assignment to Li Kai-loi, were produced to him by Wong Wa-kong, who is the father-in-law of Li Kai-loi. The solicitor inspected the deeds. The mortgagee was represented at the sale by Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist. The request for the postponement of the sale was refused. "I will refrain from comment upon the mortgagee's conduct."

THE SALE PROCEEDED.

The sale proceeded. The defendant became the purchaser. Subsequently to the auction Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist acted for both vendor and purchaser. The deed of assignment to the purchaser was executed on the 6th August, 1931.

The three deeds of title which on the 23rd July had been produced by Wong Wa-kong remained in his custody.

On the 23rd July after the auction sale Ng Yu-loi wrote a letter to Li Tse-shi a nephew of the plaintiff in Tsai Shan; enclosing a further letter to the plaintiff in which he asked her to come to Hongkong in connection with the matter. This letter reached Li Tse-shi on the 26th July. The plaintiff wrote to Canton. She received her letter there on the 27th July. She at once came back to Tsai Shan, arriving in the forenoon of the 28th July.

PLAINTIFF BEATS SON.

On her return she has stated (and on this point I believe her) that she found her son Li Kai-loi at home, had a conversation with him and beat him severely. Since that date she says that she has not seen him; and this statement too, I see no reason to doubt.

She further says that on that day she opened her American trunk and became for the first time aware of the absence of her title deeds, and this statement too, I see no reason to doubt.

On the afternoon of the same day, the 28th July, a person named Wong Yui who had been sent by Wong Wa-kong, arrived from Hongkong and handed to the plaintiff a bundle of documents, three or four, which she supposed to be her title deeds restored to her.

She came at once to Hongkong bringing these documents with her, and arriving on the 29th July. She stayed in a boarding house.

On the 30th July she interviewed Li Cheuk-nam.

On the 31st July she did so again; and on the afternoon of that day visited Ng Yu-hon in his shop in Wing Lok Street. Wong Wa-kong was then present.

ASSIGNMENT NOT RECEIVED.

On the 6th August, 1931, the plaintiff consulted her present solicitor, Lo Man-kam. She has stated that she dated the documents received by her on the 28th July from Wong Yui. Lo Man-kam received from her four documents—the first two assignments of the premises and two other documents. He did not receive from her the assignment by Li Woon-nam to Li Kai-loi which was last seen, according to the evidence, in the custody of Wong Wa-kong in the auction room on the 23rd July. From the plaintiff's interview with Lo Man-kam these proceedings originated. He obtained for her on the 4th December, 1931, letters of administration with will annexed to her late husband's estate. The present writ was issued on the 15th December, 1931.

The plaintiff here asks that the deed of assignment by Li Woon-nam to Li Kai-loi dated 24th March, 1930, be declared void; and consequently also all transactions with the said property deriving validity therefrom.

IMPERSONATION NOT IN DOUBT.

The impersonation of Li Woon-nam by some person unknown is not in doubt.

At this trial the defendant has relied wholly upon the plea that the plaintiff is estopped by her own conduct from questioning the validity of the assignment.

ONUS ON DEFENDANT.

The onus of proving the allegation of knowledge rests upon the defendant and if that onus is not discharged the plaintiff must here succeed.

At this point I am in the place of a jury. I have in my mind that impersonation in legal matters of one member of a family by another, where the interests of the family as a whole are not thereby damaged, is not regarded in the circle to which the plaintiff belongs as culpable. Still less is it so regarded when such impersonation is adopted to safeguard the family's interests.

In the course followed in this trial the plaintiff's evidence came first. She affirms that the deeds of title were abstracted from her custody without her knowledge. In the Spring of 1930, according to her evidence, Li Kai-loi (Li Hip-loi being with him) obtained from her on one occasion the keys to the American trunk and had access to the trunk in her absence in order to take out his passport.

THE QUESTION OF FACT.

The question of fact to be decided is having regard to all the evidence before the Court her story is discredited.

That it is probable that she had knowledge of the actual events as they happened is shown by the following facts. According to her own statement the plaintiff herself from April 1926 to July 1931, kept carefully in her custody the duplicate keys of the trunk in which the deeds were deposited. With the one exception already referred to by her in her evidence no one but herself opened the trunk. The trunk was kept on the first floor in a living room. It was in use by the plaintiff; she kept clothes in it of her own (according to her evidence these were clothes which she did not wear). Quite apart from business relating to property in China she went to the box regularly each month, to take out the "chops" employed to issue acknowledgments for rent received from the property in Hongkong. In these circumstances it seems prima facie unlikely that the abstraction of these deeds could have taken place without her consent or that the absence of the deeds could have remained undiscovered by her.

ASSIGNEE'S BONA FIDES.

Further, the assignment here questioned, though it is apparent that among its purposes was to avoid the intricacies of the Probate Jurisdiction of the Court and the payment of estate duty, is not otherwise characterized by fraud. The assignment itself involved legal costs amounting to $850.00. The assignee, if he is to be suspected of fraud, at this time solemnly after this expenditure postponed attempting to make any profit for himself for 18 months. Also the bona fides of the assignee at this time is evidenced by the fact that the deeds of title did not remain in his custody and that when 18 months later he designed the fraudulent mortgage the deeds were not available to him. On the day of the auction sale of the property by the mortgagee, the deeds were still in the hands of persons who were holding them for the family of Li Woon-nam and not for his fraudulent son. On the occasion when instructions were given to Messrs. Deacons with reference to the assignment itself, Li Kai-loi was introduced to the solicitor by Ng Yu-hon himself, the trusted, and in my opinion, trustworthy friend of the family. I notice also that the date of this assignment comes shortly after the property was brought to the attention of the family by the first change in tenancy since the death of Li Woon-nam. For these reasons it seems more likely that the assignment was as far as the internal administration of family property is concerned, executed in good faith. Such a decision would be usually reached after a conference of all the elder members of the family.

I am not impressed by the plaintiff's statement that she kept the "chops" concealed in the trunk under her clothing and not in the tray with the documents.

IN FRAUD OF FAMILY.

The plaintiff would establish her ignorance of the assignment to the Court by reference to her custody of her son on the 28th July, 1931, but her violence may be more probably attributed to her discovery of her son's subsequent dealings with the property in fraud of his family.

It is suggested that her knowledge is shown by her own actions in Hongkong after her discovery of the auction sale of the property.

So far as the story told in court goes, she on her own initiative visited Li Cheuk-nam in Hongkong on the 30th and 31st July, 1931. Li Cheuk-nam was her husband's elder brother and the father of Li Hip-loi who was the donee of the power of attorney given by Li Kai-loi. Later in the second day she was taken to a Police Station. Her intention both in the house and in the Police Station was to lay a complaint against Li Hip-loi. She herself has stated that she complained that Li Hip-loi had induced her son to steal her title deeds and sell her property fraudulently. On the other hand, the two Police officers who have given evidence for her say that her complaint was merely that Li Hip-loi had induced her son to come to Hongkong and to sign a document by means of which her property had been sold. It is clear to me in spite of her own statement to the contrary that she was not, then alleging a theft of title deeds by her son, and it is a reasonable inference that she must have known throughout that her son had not stolen the deeds otherwise she would have included the theft in her report.

NO CONCLUSION FOUND.

Again, later in the same afternoon, she was in Ng Yu-hon's shop. I may say here that I do not find any conclusion upon evidence given for the defendant to prove that on this occasion she made a certain request to a solicitor's interpreter, but there is one matter of interest in the evidence about the interview between the interpreter and Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist and Ng Yu-hon. In the hearing of the plaintiff Ng Yu-hon is reported to have said "this is a matter between uncle and nephew." In fact, this meant that Li Kai-loi, as representative of his family, must account to his uncle Li Cheuk-nam of the fraud. The thoughts of those concerned had on this occasion been directed back to a theft 16 months earlier of the family deeds by Li Kai-loi, the problem could not have been so described. Both the plaintiff and incidentally Ng Yu-hon would seem to have been well aware that the deeds had been stolen.

ASSIGNMENT INSUPPRESSED.

In addition to these considerations I noted as a curious fact that the actual assignment in question was last admitted by any witness to have been seen in the auction room, on the 23rd July, 1931. It was then not in the possession of a person concerned in the fraud but of a person who was intervening to prevent further consequence flowing from the fraud. Other title deeds then in the same possession reached Lo Man-kam, the solicitor, through the plaintiff on the 6th August. The assignment to Li Kai-loi itself has not been forthcoming. These circumstances suggest that it has been suppressed and suppressed in the interest of the plaintiff in these proceedings who is attacking its validity.

For these reasons I find that the contemporaneous knowledge of the impersonation has been brought home by the evidence to the plaintiff. This issue of fact was the only issue submitted for trial by the plaintiff's counsel when he opened his case. That the conduct of the plaintiff, if this issue were decided against her, formed a basis of estoppel as pleaded by the defendant, was not then questioned. The evidence was allowed to cover a somewhat ample field so that the Court might have before it a complete story; but witnesses were called and examined on this issue of fact only. It was not until his final address that the plaintiff's counsel raised any argument upon the law of estoppel. I want this position to be placed here clearly upon record.

If the parties had addressed themselves to the law of estoppel, no doubt evidence would have been tendered to bring the defendant's case within the precedent of "Taung Chuen v. Li Po-kwai" (1932, A.C. 715). Evidence might have followed to establish an estoppel upon an estoppel.

I have decided in these circumstances to place on record her my decision of fact already set out, leaving it to either party to move the

AFFECTIONATING A GORILLA

NURSED THROUGH AN ILLNESS

ZOO INCIDENT

London. The story of how a fine young male gorilla became much more affectionate and tractable than he had ever been before as the result of assiduous nursing during a severe illness, is told in the newly published annual report of the Zoological Society.

The gorilla had a high temperature, and one lung was nearly solid with inflammation—a condition dangerous in the extreme. Lieutenant-Colonel Hamerton, the Society's pathologist, and Dr. Vevers acted as medical attendants, but as usual in such cases treatment consisted almost entirely of continuous nursing.

One keeper watched the gorilla every night and another every day for a fortnight, until the animal was taken off the sick list.

Items on the menu at the Zoo during the year included:

43 tons of herring and white-fish, 1,914 pints of shrimps, 184,076 bananas, 19,800 eggs, and 476 lbs. of dried flies.

Fewer people went to the Zoo last year, the figure being 1,552,535 compared with 1,816,052 the previous year, but more went to Whipsnade, the great open-air Zoo near London, in the season than in the corresponding months of 1931.

Some 504,549 visited Whipsnade compared with 340,311 during the seven months of opening the previous year.—Reuter.

SMALLER NATIONS GROW FASTER

BIG INCREASES IN POPULATION

London. The smaller nations of Europe are the ones whose population is increasing the most rapidly, according to statistical tables just published by the Registrar-General.

Jugo-Slavia has the greatest increase of any European people—16.2 per cent., or nearly three times that of England and Wales (5.5 per cent.).

Holland is next, with 15.6 per cent., Bulgaria 13 per cent., and Greece 12.1 per cent.

Switzerland has the smallest increase of any European country—only 4.9 per cent.

In all the world the greatest increase of any country was that for Brazil, which at the last census revealed the enormous increase of 77 per cent. Brazil now has a population of over 31,000,000.

The great European countries—Britain, France, Germany, and Italy—show an increase in population that ranges from 5.6 per cent to 6.5 per cent. during the last ten years.

The Dutch are increasing at a pace nearly double that of Belgium and treble that of Germany.

The average family in Spain and Portugal now is found to be twice the size of that in England.

The United States shows a 16 per cent increase during the past ten years but its population has been greatly helped by immigration. Japan shows an expansion of 10 per cent.

Among the Scandinavian countries the growth of population is greatest in Sweden (6.9 per cent.) and lowest in Denmark (5.6 per cent).—Reuter.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

FUNCTION AT KOWLOON UNION CHURCH

A delightful Birthday Tea Party and Concert, given by the members of the Women's Guild, was held in the Kowloon Union Hall, Jordan Road, yesterday afternoon.

The tables were set and decorated to represent the different months of the year, guests being expected to drink tea at their "birthday table."

After tea, a short speech was made by Mrs. E. L. Allen, President of the Women's Guild, in which she welcomed all the guests and wished them many happy returns, although she said she was aware that many present had now reached an age when birthdays might be forgotten.

Afterward, an excellent concert was given, commencing with a pianoforte solo by Mrs. F. Short, which was followed by "There's A Land" sung delightfully by Mrs. W. Gardiner.

Community singing, enjoyed by all, was followed by Mrs. J. J. Cornelius singing "There's A Song Down Every Roadway."

Mrs. Cornelius, who leaves for home shortly, was then presented with a coffee set by Mrs. E. L. Allen who, on behalf of the Guild, thanked Mrs. Cornelius for all the work she had done while a member of the committee.

Mrs. W. H. C. Robson also contributed to a delightful programme by singing "The Valley of Laughter."

BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

The new grand slam bonus for rubber bridge has without a doubt stepped up the bidding of grand slams. The award is now large enough that one can well gamble to bid a grand slam even though it depend upon a finesse or the breaking or establishment of a side suit.

The grand slam bonus, I believe, has also improved the play. Players get themselves into a slam contract and must stop to reason, the hand out from every angle in order to make their contract.

A pretty squeeze play for seven odd was recently made by Mr. Robert W. Halpin of Chicago, a past president of the American Bridge League and captain of the well-known Chicago bridge Club team, on the following hand:

The Bidding.

His partner in the South opened the contracting with one diamond. Mr. Halpin in the North had a four and a five-card suit, but due to the fact that he could make a one over one, he bid one spade.

South bid three spades—a game force. Mr. Halpin definitely knew that the hand was going to be played for at least a small slam and decided to see if he could not arrive at the grand slam. He responded with four clubs, and South bid four diamonds to show tops in diamonds.

Mr. Halpin then showed the ace of hearts by a bid of four hearts. South bid five spades and Mr. Halpin went to seven.

The Play.

East's opening lead was the king of hearts which Mr. Halpin in the North won with the ace. He immediately saw that he must get a break in clubs or diamonds in order to get a heart discard, so he decided to try for the club suit and led the ace and king of clubs followed by small club, ruffing the third club in dummy. East discarded a heart.

When he found that he had a bad break in clubs, Mr. Halpin could not try to establish the diamond suit with a ruff, as that would bring him to three trump in each hand, so he was forced to depend upon a squeeze.

He led the eight of spades from dummy and won in his own hand with the nine. He led another club, trumping in dummy with the ace of spades. The jack of spades was returned from dummy and won by Mr. Halpin with the king.

He then led two more rounds of spades, which brought him down to the five of hearts, seven and deuce of diamonds and eight of clubs.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

AFTER 50 YEARS IN HONGKONG

MRS. MARY BEVAN

Mrs. Mary Antoinette Staton Bevan, who passed away at the Victoria Hospital last night after a long and painful illness, was one of the oldest residents of the Colony.

She came here with her husband and family in 1881. With the exception of the youngest son who was born here, the family returned to England the following year on sick leave, but returned in 1883. For the last fifty years Mrs. Bevan remained in Hongkong, never leaving the Far East.

Her husband, who was Chief Clerk of Works at the P.W.D. died some forty years ago.

Mrs. Bevan leaves one daughter, the wife of Mr. Wm. Anderson of the Anderson Music Co., and three sons, the eldest of whom William Staton Bevan was, until recently, superintendent of the Eastern Exchange Telegraph Co. at Foochow and has now retired on pension.

The second son, Herbert, was one of the first volunteers to leave Hongkong when war was declared and he went through the entire East Africa campaign with the Welsh Fusiliers. He received a Commission and was mentioned in despatches. Later he joined the Chinese Labour Corps and served in France, where he was gassed. Mrs. Bevan was well known for

A VERY DEAF CONCUBINE IMPOSSIBLE TO GIVE EVIDENCE

Kwong Lam, a carpenter, and and Li Tai, a married woman, appeared before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning, charged with assaulting Lam Sze, a deaf concubine, living at 381, Reclamation Street.

An effort to commence the complainant's evidence was found impossible. The interpreter standing next the witness box spoke as loud as he could, but the woman could not hear.

His Worship decided to refer the case to the S.C.A.

He now lives in Coronado, California.

The youngest son, Roland, also served in France, but returned to Hongkong after the war and is now on the staff of the Kowloon and Canton Railway.

WAR WORKER

her services for Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, being a most faithful worker. She made hundreds of garments during the war. She was also a devoted attendant at St. John's Cathedral for nearly fifty years.

When she later lived in Kowloon she attended St. Andrew's Church until prevented by increasing years and infirmity.

She was loved by her many friends and her death will be greatly felt.

YOUNG "HOPES"
SELECTED

SEVERAL NEW PLAYERS

London, June 7.
Britain has selected her Ryder Cup golf team to oppose America at Southport on June 26 and 27. The team includes some of England's youngest golfers who have won their spurs in open tournaments during the last twelve months.

The team will be:

Percy Alliss (Beaconsfield)
A. Dalley (Bradley Hall)
W. H. Davies (Wallasey)
A. J. Lacey (Selsdon Park)
Abe Mitchell (Unattached)
A. H. Padgham (Ashdown Forest)

A. Perry (Leatherhead)
Charles Whitcombe (Crows Hill)

Reserves:—

S. Easterbrook (Knowle)

A. Havers (Sandy Lodge)
